BATTLE TIDE IS NOW WITH THE TEUTONS

Russian Forces' Retirement South of Lemberg Now Substantiated

CZAR AT COUNCIL OF WAR HELD AT THE FRONT

WITH LEADING GENERALS

Italians Report That the Austrians Made An Unsuccessful Attempt to Retake Heights—Petrograd Reports That Austro-German Attacks In Some Places Were Repulsed.

The tide of battle is again flowing with the Teutonic allies in Galicia. German and Austrian claims of victory are substantiated by Russian admissions of retirement south of Lemberg. Simultaneously comes news of a Russian council of war at the front, presided over by the emperor and participated in by the Russian command-in-chief, the Grand Duke Nicholas, leading military men, and several cabinet ministers, while in Petrograd the recent retirement of the minister of war is to be followed by other ministerial changes, according to current report.

Following recent indications that the Germans were resuming activity with the possible intention of beginning another march on Warsaw down from near the East Prussian border, come reports of a strong offensive movement by the Teutonic forces in the southern part of Russian Poland.

The latest Russian official report mentions this with the declaration that up to Saturday the new offensive had met with no success. It is likewise affirmed that German attacks in the Shavli and Narew river regions and across the Niemen have been repulsed.

News from other sections of the far spread war front includes an Italian official report of an unsuccessful attempt by the Austrians to retake the heights of Zeilenkofel.

German submarine activity has borne fruit again in the sinking of the British steamer Indrani in St. George's Channel.

British aviators have flown over Smyrna, dropping bomb and causing more than seventy casualties in the Turkish garrison there, according to a report from Mytilene.

An interesting statement in view of recent reports, is attributed to the Serbian minister to Italy to the effect that Serbia will decline to make a separate peace.

NO EVIDENCE OF DISORDER ABOUT THE SLATON HOME

(Associated Press Telegram)
Atlanta, Ga., June 28.—Four men arrested between midnight and dawn by the militia guarding former Governor Slaton's country home, were placed in the county jail today and are held pending action by the military authorities. It was stated the men were found in a road near the Slaton estate, and failed to explain reasons for their presence to the satisfaction of the militiamen. No arms were found upon them.

The twenty-six men arrested near the Slaton estate Saturday still are in the jail. No formal charge has been placed against any of them, according to jail officials.

Officers of the guard reported there was no evidence of disorder within the zone, under martial law during last night.

Exploding Shells Emit Gas Which Enters Into Cavities And Tears Flesh Asunder

(Associated Press Correspondence)
Warsaw, June 12.—Seven-eighths of the wounds in the Galician fighting were caused by shells, half of which were fired from big calibre guns, said Surgeon General Lesghintseff to an interviewer on returning to Warsaw from the front.

"Bullets play no part now," he continued, "and the infantryman's rifle is a toy. Infantry merely occupies the trenches the cannon have won." Most devastating of all are the new Skoda shells of the Germanic allies which are 17-inches in diameter and weigh 2800 pounds. The Skoda howitzer shoots at a high angle, and its shell penetrates 20 feet into soft earth before exploding two seconds

Addison L. Rawlings, Arrested at His Home, Released On $3000 Bond for Hearing Friday; Says He Has Been In Newark for Last Ten Days

Addison L. Rawlings, former well-known Newark piano dealer, was arrested at his home in West Church street Sunday evening about 10 o'clock by Police Chief James Sheridan. He was charged with forgery in six affidavits, five of which were issued at the instance of John A. Thornton of Cincinnati, who charges that the Newark man uttered fraudulent notes in the sums of $450, $260, $300, $225 and $250. The sixth affidavit was issued at the request of John A. Thornton, also of Cincinnati, who charges Rawlings with forgery of a note whose face value is $300.

After the arrest Chief Sheridan brought Rawlings to the patrol station and Mayor R. C. Bigbee was notified that the prisoner desired to give bond and the mayor consented, placing the amount of the bail at $500 on each charge, a total of $3,000. This was furnished by relatives and Mr. Rawlings was released to appear Friday, when he will be formally arraigned before Mayor Bigbee. He has retained counsel and will probably waive examination and be bound over to the next term of court, which convenes in September.

Rawlings' attorneys are W. D. Fulton of this city and W. M. Koons of Mt. Vernon.

The whereabouts of Rawlings have been unknown except to members of his immediate family since his sensational disappearance from this city on Thursday, May 6, nearly eight weeks ago. The next day attorneys for Harry Swisher applied for a receiver for the Rawlings store in North Park place and Attorneys J. Howard Jones and Chas. W. Montgomery were appointed by the court. Within a short time it developed that Rawlings was involved to the extent of over $250,000.

Representatives of firms holding Rawlings' paper came to this city and started an investigation and it soon became apparent that he had issued piano notes in various amounts ranging from $100 to $450 the sum total of which equaled many thousands of dollars, which are alleged to have been forged.

Some time ago Police Chief Sheridan had reason to believe that Rawlings was in hiding at his home in this city. Later these suspicions were confirmed and yesterday Chief Sheridan sent for two of Rawlings' brothers-in-law and requested them to have Mr. Rawlings give himself up. Otherwise he informed them that he would be compelled to call at the home and take him forcibly.

The arrangement was agreed to with the result as told above.

An Advocate representative called at the Rawlings home in West Church street this morning and was cordially greeted by Mr. Rawlings. Asked as to his whereabouts since leaving Newark he replied:

"I left here and after spending several days in Columbus went to Loudenville, O., where I remained a few days, going from there to Wooster. I next went to Allegheny where I remained some little time and then Huerta Arrested, Charged With Trying to Organize Mexican Party In the U. S.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, June 28.—Inside details of the plot to restore a Huerta regime to Mexico nipped in the bud by the United States began trickling out today through the net of official secrecy while General Huerta and his chief lieutenant, Pascual Orozco are under federal detention at El Paso.

Other Mexicans, nearly a score of whom had a part in the plot that failed, and probably some Americans, are under surveillance by the department of justice.

Secretary Lansing conferred today with Assistant Attorney General Warren and it became apparent that the department of justice intends to sift the case to find the backers of the new revolution. Where the trail might lead in the United States is only a matter of conjecture, but it is generally believed by those in close touch with Mexican affairs that the coup was to have the financial support of some prominent American interests.

Official information has disclosed that weeks ago Huerta in apparent seclusion at his country place on Long Island, offered his services to General Huerta, one of the exile colonies in New York, and at the same time sent an emissary to Washington to ask if he would be persona non grata to this government if he took a hand in Mexican affairs. Huerta declined Huerta's company and simultaneously Washington sent word to former dictator that he would be persona non grata, and decidedly so.

Immediately thereafter, the official advices here say, Huerta renewed his offer to Huerta, with a modified proposal that Huerta accept Huerta's aid without Huerta's leadership, but with the co-operation of his associates. This last offer officials and diplomats with Mexican inclinations and diplomats with Mexican inclinations returned to their home, 125 10th

Burglars Fire Pistol In Face Of Mrs. Bragg; Escape With Loot Valued at $100 Saturday Night

Burglars caught at work in the home of Mrs. S. H. McCleery, widow of Ex-Mayor McCleery, fired one shot at Mrs. McCleery's daughter, Mrs. Mary Bragg Saturday night, when the returned to their home, 125 Tenth women returned from a shopping trip and found the men in the house. The shot did not take effect and the men dashed from the house, were joined by a third man and made their escape through the back yards and alleys. They got away with watches and other jewelry.

It was shortly after 9 o'clock when Mrs. McCleery and Mrs. Bragg, returned to their home, 125 10th street after spending the evening down town. They rested for a few minutes on the front porch before entering the home.

Mrs. Bragg unlocked the door and as she pushed it open, a man brushed past her. An instant later another dark form loomed in the doorway and there was a flash of fire and a sharp report of the pistol. Both men leaped from the porch and disappeared around the house.

Until the revolver cracked, the women were speechless with terror. With the discharge of the weapon, both women screamed for help. In

Ambassador Gerard Indicates That Germany's Reply Will Recognize Principles of the American Note

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, June 28.—A favorable reply by Germany to the last American note on submarine warfare is indicated in today's state department advices from Berlin.

The advices came from Ambassador Gerard and were notably the first of a definite nature received since the American note reached the German foreign office. The exact nature of the ambassador's message was not divulged for obvious reasons, and it did not become known whether he revealed any indication of the trend of the forthcoming German reply.

The ambassador's dispatch was of sufficient detail, however, to put officials in an optimistic attitude. It was communicated at once to President Wilson at the summer White House at Cornish, N. H.

Ambassador Gerard based his observations on the favorable effect which the visit of Dr. Anton Meyer-Gernstorf, the German ambassador here, had produced on officials of the German government.

Dr. Gerard was understood by Ambassador Gerard to have reported that public opinion in the United States had been growing more and more favorable to Germany, when the sinking of the Lusitania undid what had been accomplished. Gerard made it clear also that the United States did not want war, but wanted a satisfactory reply to its representations.

German officials are eager, according to Ambassador Gerard's report, to give such an answer, but at the same time they have made it clear that Germany cannot make any concessions which would destroy the effectiveness of the submarine as an offensive weapon. What the German government is endeavoring to do, it is understood, is to find some method by which Americans traveling on ships primarily used for passenger traffic shall be safe, while the submarine continues to be used in attacking freight ships of belligerent nationality carrying chiefly contraband.

Just what proposal Germany will make to accomplish that object, officials here cannot conjecture, but from the fact that Germany seems to be willing to safeguard the rights of Americans who travel on ships of any nationality, primarily engaged in passenger traffic, an adherence to the principles expressed in the American note—that non-combatants should be immune from attack—would seem, in the opinion of officials here, to be recognized.

No information had been received on what the attitude of Germany would be toward assuming liability for the loss of American lives on the Lusitania, but the feeling prevails that if a satisfactory arrangement can be made as to the future conduct of submarines towards vessels carrying Americans, Germany would suggest a basis for a favorable adjustment of the Lusitania case as well.

MOTHERS' PENSION MUST BE PAID OUT OF THAT FUND ONLY.

(Associated Press Telegram.)
Columbus, June 28.—If allowances for mothers' pension in any county exceed the fund raised for that purpose by the special levy of not more than 1-10 of a mill, the allowances must be reduced, Attorney General Turner declared today, in an opinion. County commissioners have no legal authority for transferring money from fee funds or other funds to pay mothers' pensions. In reducing certain pensions or eliminating some entirely, juvenile courts should have "due regard for the most needy cases," the attorney general suggests.

RUSSIAN ARMY IS PREPARED TO RESIST ADVANCE

FORCES SAID TO HAVE BEEN RE-GROUPED SINCE DISASTROUS GALICIAN CAMPAIGN

And Are Now Ready to Throw Strong Opposition to the Austro-German Drive.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Petrograd, June 28. (Via London) Officers of the Russian general staff now state that they have satisfactorily achieved the regrouping of their forces necessitated by the German Galician campaign and that they stand ready effectively to oppose a further advance of the Austro-German forces in Galicia or in Southern Russia.

The Gnila Lipa river, to which the Russian forces have retired flows south from above Rohatyn, branching from the Dniester river near Halicz, and, with steep banks and bluffs provides admirable facilities for defense.

Further eastward the Zlota Lipa, another tributary of the Dniester and paralleling the Gnila Lipa at a distance of 15 miles, would in the opinion of Russian critics, offer even a stronger obstacle to a German advance, since besides having natural advantages, it is supported with a good railroad line.

The most important point of the present front is that portion of the Vistula just north of the River San. Here the Germans in considerable numbers are attempting to force the river and by so doing, flank the Russian positions along the Tanew which as yet have shown no signs of yielding to the frontal attack.

The wooded approach to the river at this point allows the Germans successfully to mask their operations and to conceal their batteries, but the record of the fighting up to Saturday shows that no real advantage has yet been gained by the Germans.

The importance of this move is well recognized by the Russians since if successful, it would unite the German forces on the left side of the Vistula with those operating on the other side, in Lublin province, against the Tanew front.

German activity appears to be limited at present to the Dniester and Vistula rivers. In the region of Lemberg no serious fighting has been reported.

ANOTHER BRITISH VESSEL WAS SUNK BY A SUBMARINE

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, June 28.—The British steamship Indrani of 3,640 tons gross, was sunk on Sunday by a German submarine at a point southwest of Tuskar, Ireland. The crew of the Indrani was saved.

The steamship Indrani on her last eastern voyage across the Atlantic, sailed from New York, May 8, by way of Bordeaux for Glasgow where she arrived June 19. The Indrani was 361 feet long, 44 feet beam and 27 feet deep. She was built at Liverpool in 1888 and was owned by Donaldson Brothers of Glasgow. Tuskar Rock is an island off the southeast coast of Wexford county in St. George's channel.

United States Warns Japan And China that Open-Door Policy Must be Maintained

(Associated Press Telegram)
Peking, June 28.—Warning that the United States would not recognize any agreement between China and Japan, which impaired American rights in China or endangered the so-called "open door" policy, was conveyed to the governments of both China and Japan in an identical note from Washington, which was delivered about May 15. The notes were handed to the foreign offices of both countries a week after China had acceded to the demands contained in the Japanese ultimatum, insisting upon concessions from the former nation.

The United States note, was in substance, as follows:

"In view of the negotiations which

TEUTON AGAINST SLAV

Has Converted Europe Into An Armed Camp On Anniversary of the Slaying of Archduke—War Has Developed Into Struggle for Racial Supremacy.

(Associated Press Telegram)
London, June 28.—The anniversary today of the assassination at Sarajevo, of Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria, which turned Europe into an armed camp and most of it into a battlefield, finds the struggle between Teutonism and Slavism for racial ascendancy nearing what is thought here to be its high water mark, with the Teutonic armies for the most part still outwardly, though not without difficulty, dominating the situation.

The penetration of the Germanic armies eastward from Lemberg has had the inevitable result of forcing the Russians from the thirty-mile front between Bobrka and Zurawna, where they had offered such stubborn resistance.

The Muscovites, as they themselves admit, are now falling back to the Gnila Lipa river, which runs from the northward of Przemyśl and through Rohatyn to Halicz, where it joins the Dniester. Military writers here anticipate that this backward move will necessitate a total withdrawal from the Dniester and that the Russians will make their next real stand on the River Bug.

These writers also hold that though the Russian retreat must mean a great retardation to the prospects of a Muscovite recovery to a condition making a counter offensive possible, it has also robbed the Austro-Germans of the complete victory that might have been theirs if they had been able to force the Russians to fight to a finish instead of the latter being able to withdraw their armies virtually intact.

In the western field of war, the French offensive seems less active than for some time past, pending consolidation of the ground already won and a clearer insight into the next move projected by the Germans.

From far off Lake Victoria Nyanza, in Africa, the British war office reports a fruitful British attack on the German fortified port of Bukoba, the movement being both from land and water with the result that on June 25 the fort was destroyed, the wireless station put out of action, many boats sunk and guns captured and destroyed.

Rumor continues busy with the Balkans, but those who know the secret of the Bulgarian ministry are awaiting their own time for divulging it. The only fact which is public property at present is that the Bulgarians are still receiving offers from both sides.

APPEALS

WILL BE MADE FOR LAWS MORE FAVORABLE TO AMERICAN SHIPPING.

Four Hundred Commercial Organizations Forward Resolutions to President Wilson.

(Associated Press Telegram) San Francisco, June 28.—What is intended to be a nation-wide appeal for legislation favorable to American shipping, was launched here today with the forwarding of resolutions to President Wilson, Secretary of Commerce Redfield, and 400 American commercial bodies by the San Francisco chamber of commerce.

Each of the organizations to which the resolutions were sent has been asked to request its congressional delegation to urge the enactment of laws favorable to American shipping and for repeal of existing "discriminatory" acts. The resolutions request President Wilson to appoint a commission of practical shippers to study the laws and regulations relating to government shipping in this and other countries and then draft a bill outlining a conservative method of building up a permanent merchant marine.

The announcement that the Pacific Mail Steamship company would discontinue its trans-Pacific service; that the Dollar Line would change from American to British registry; and rumors that other Pacific steamship companies were planning to haul down the American flag were given as reasons for the appeal.

A. L. RAWLINGS

(Continued from Page 1.) went on to New York. You can imagine the condition of my mind. I was almost on the verge of insanity. I had intended leaving New York for a foreign clime, when I changed my mind and went to a number of places in Pennsylvania where I remained until about ten days ago, when I decided to return to Newark and give myself up. I would have done so some time ago, but there were a few things I wished to do in the meantime. I am glad that the trying ordeal is over and I only ask my friends and the public in general to suspend judgment until the full facts which will be brought out in the trial are made public.

"Every dollar I had in the world when I left this city was $25. I had left my wife all other funds, amounting to a little over $200. I had also given her a check which I had and this was protested at the bank, and that by a man whom I had loaned over $9000 in the course of his business career. My wife was later forced to sell her Victrola and our auto in order to secure funds with which to run the household.

"A relative of mine sent me money while I was away when I ran short of funds. This morning I have only 35 cents in the world, and that is the God's truth. That represents the amount of my capital.

"I am told that it has been said that I lived extravagantly; that I bought the most expensive of clothes for my family. That is untrue. I was never extravagant, nor inclined to frivolity; never speculated or gambled in any manner. The money which I realized in my business went back into that business. I paid one family alone in Cincinnati the sum of over $250,000 since I have been doing business. Hounding methods on the part of my creditors have been the cause of my ruination. I do not care to say anything further at this time except to state that I have receipts for every dollar which I have realized and this will be shown when the proper time comes."

Mr. Rawlings has not denied the charge that he forged many piano notes which he discounted and sold, but it is said that he claims that once he started, several years ago, to issue such paper he found himself unable to meet the discounts and the payments on these notes out of the legitimate profits of his business and, therefore, issued and disposed of more fraudulent paper. It is alleged that he owes Harry Swisher approximately $120,000, and that of the 600 notes held by Swisher only a few, said to be less than twenty, are good. Cincinnati and Chicago people hold various amounts. The Rawlings notes while several local people held various amounts. The Rawlings indebtedness to the banks is fully protected by genuine notes and other security that is good.

A mortgage was placed upon the Rawlings home several months ago for about $6000, and this fact is cited as evidence that Rawlings has no money at present.

While the parties interested are, of course, reticent, the belief is that Rawlings will waive examination at the hearing, Friday, and if so will be bound over to the grand jury, which meets in September. If he is bound over the court will require a new bond, the amount of which will be determined at that time.

Rawlings, who in appearance has aged greatly since his disappearance on May 6th, says that the financial statement which he sent to the Advocate for publication purporting to account for about $50,000 of his losses, was incomplete and that he will prepare a detailed statement accounting for all of the money which passed through his hands.

It was reported today that the Rawlings north side music store, has been bought by a Cincinnati firm. The receivers say that negotiations are pending but that the deal has not been completed.

One Year Ago Today Occured Tragedy Which, Comparatively Insignificant In Itself, Has Plunged Europe Into War

One year ago today the Austrian Archduke, Francis Ferdinand, and his wife were shot and killed in the little Bosnian town of Sarajevo by Garvijo Princip. It was the act of Princip, a poor student, which ultimately resulted in ten nations going to war. These nations are, on one hand, Great Britain, France, Russia, Serbia, Japan, Belgium, Italy and Montenegro, and on the other, Germany, Austria and Turkey. The war to date, according to conservative estimates compiled from the best available reports, has caused a loss to the various belligerents of more than six million men, dead, wounded and prisoners, and more than five hundred ships. Of these about 120 were war vessels.

The outstanding results on land are these:

The greater portion of Belgium is under the control of Germany. Germany has been driven from the Far East.

A part of the Dardanelles is in the possession of the Allied troops. Portions of France and Russia are in the possession of German troops. A strip of Alsace has been taken from Germany.

On the continent of Africa parts of territorial possessions have been lost by both sides.

Various island possessions of Germany have been taken by the forces of the allies.

Italian troops are in possession of a strip of Austrian territory.

The outstanding results at sea are these:

German and Austrian mercantile shipping has been driven from all the open seas.

German and Austrian war vessels having a total displacement of approximately 257,000 tons have been destroyed.

War vessels of the allied nations having a total displacement of approximately 192,000 tons have been sent to the bottom.

The greater portions of the German and Allied fleets in the North Sea remain intact.

Except for communication through Holland and the Scandinavian nations, Germany is cut off from the rest of the world.

Efforts on the part of the Germans to place the British Isles in a similar predicament has resulted in the sinking by submarines of hundreds of vessels flying the flags of the Allied and neutral nations.

The sinking in this manner of the Cunard liner Lusitania with the loss of more than one hundred American lives precipitated a request upon the part of the United States that such practices insofar as they might menace Americans be stopped.

Prinzip's crime was committed on June 28. An investigation disclosed what was alleged to be proof that the assassin was the tool of a group of Serbians. On July 23, after considerable correspondence and negotiations an ultimatum was sent to Serbia by the Austro-Hungarian government, which Serbia declined to meet. A week later a general mobilization of Russian troops along the German border was ordered, and the following day Germany declared war on Russia. The news of that event was followed in a few hours by the announcement that a general mobilization had been ordered by the French cabinet.

On August 2 German troops entered Luxembourg and Germany demanded free passage through Belgium to the French frontier. This was refused and two days later Great Britain dispatched to Germany an ultimatum demanding that the neutrality of Belgium be maintained. The ultimatum rejected, German forces attacked Liege. On the same day President Wilson issued a proclamation of neutrality.

The following day saw the declaration by Great Britain of a state of war with Germany, and two days later the Germans entered Liege as the French invaded southern Alsace. These events were quickly followed by an affirmation on the part of Italy for her neutrality, by an Austrian invasion of Serbia and by the signing by Japan of an ultimatum to Germany. This had to do with the German possession of Kiaochow of which Tsingtau was the port.

By August 17 the first British expeditionary force had completed its landing in France and on that day there began also a fierce battle on the Ypres between the Austrian and Serbian troops. Victory was with the Serbian arms after five days of fighting and the Austrians were routed.

In the meanwhile the battle of Lorraine had opened and the German troops had entered Brussels, the Belgian capital.

A few days later, August 23, the victorious Germans entered Namur and began an attack on Mons, defended principally by the first British expeditionary force. The next day the British troops began a retreat from their position and from then on until September 12 the German troops drove through France under the leadership of General von Kluck. Zeppelins bombarded Antwerp; the French were forced to evacuate Mulhausen; the Germans took a sweep over Longwy and reached Senlis, 30 miles from Paris, where the columns swung to the eastward. The French government fled to Bordeaux.

In the meanwhile German and Austrian troops had met the Russians. A victory at Krusnik was announced by the Austrian government on August 23, while on August 29 the German army under General von Hindenburg defeated another Russian force in a battle at Tannenberg, which lasted three days. Louvain was burned by the Germans on the same day that the Japanese blockade of Tsingtau was begun. The blockade was maintained more than two months before Tsingtau surrendered.

Two days after the French government moved to Bordeaux the battle of the Marne was begun, a few hours before Russian troops succeeded in occupying Lemberg, the capital of Galicia.

Before the French and British troops, the Germans in France were forced to retreat as far as the Aisne. Events of the next few days included the bombardment of Reims by the Germans, and the sinking by a German submarine of the British cruisers, Aboukir, Cressy and Hogue. On the same day the Russian troops attacked Przemyśl and took Janoslaw.

British troops from India were landed from transports at Marseilles on September 26 and were immediately dispatched to the northward. Before their arrival at their destination the Germans had inaugurated a siege of Antwerp, which resulted in the Belgian government moving from that city to Ostend. Two days later the bombardment at Antwerp began. The Belgian government remained at Ostend for about a week and then removed to Havre, France. Forty-eight hours later the Germans captured Ostend. Meanwhile the Allied troops occupied Ypres, and a desperate battle had begun on the Yser river. German assaults upon the Allied lines between Ypres and Neuport continued for a week and then weakened.

The Germans operating in Russia meantime had been defeated after a ten days battle before Warsaw.

In Africa revolt and mutiny broke out. These disorders were headed by the Boer leader, General de Wet, General Beyers, Colonel Maritz and others.

Colonel Maritz was driven from Cape Colony. General Beyers was killed at Vaal river, and General de Wet was captured after he had been in the field for more than a month. Native troops in the African provinces belonging to Germany, Great Britain and France were lined up on the borders of the respective provinces. Fighting was general.

During the latter part of October the British dreadnought Audacious was sunk off the Irish coast; the Russians successfully attacked Lodz and Radom, driving out the invading Germans. Turkey joined in the war at that juncture by naval operations in the Black Sea. Odessa was attacked.

November opened with a German naval victory over a British squadron off the coast of Chile and the Turkish warships bombarded Sebastopol. Two days later German warships ventured from their anchorage behind the naval base at Heligoland and bombarded the British coast in the vicinity of Yarmouth. On November 3, Great Britain and France declared war on Turkey and the forts guarding the entrance to the Dardanelles were bombarded by a fleet of allied English and French warships. On the north the Russians recaptured Jaroslav after several days of ferocious fighting.

German cruisers which had been stationed in foreign waters at the opening of the war had by that time given a good account of themselves. The Emden operating in the Indian Ocean and adjacent waters overtook and sunk more than a score of merchant ships belonging to the nations allied against Germany before she was finally run down and destroyed off Cocos Island. In the Atlantic the Karlsruhe and a number of auxiliary cruisers performed similar duties. They too, sent to the bottom more than a score of ships.

On land the armies of the belligerents settled down to hold their positions for the winter months. Activities from November 11, when the German forces captured Dixmude resulted in Russian defeats at Viotslavsk, Loppo and Kutno. The battle in Flanders progressed at intervals, vigorous actions taking place and thousands of men on both sides being killed or wounded. Intrenched for the winter, the armies contented themselves principally with holding the positions they had gained. In the Serbian-Austrian campaign there was considerable activity during the early winter months. The Austrians occupied Belgrade and the Serbian capital on December 2, and retained it until December 15, when, after the Serbians had captured large forces of Austrian they were driven back into their own territory.

In East Prussia during the winter there was severe fighting, resulting in the loss of many men, dead, wounded and captured. The German armies operating in East Prussia held off and dispatched a Russian army of vast proportions, finally driving it back well into its own territory.

On the sea, a British squadron signally defeated the German squadron which was victorious off Chile. This engagement took place off the Falkland Islands. German cruisers bombarded Harlepool and Scarborough, and the German armored cruiser Bluecher was sunk in the North Sea by a section of the British fleet operating there. German submarines became especially active during the winter months, sinking many warships and merchantmen.

March opened with an announcement of British reprisal measures against the Germans for the submarine warfare and the development of battle in France.

British troops in France again became active, making a notable advance at Neuve Chapelle. By the end of March the Russian troops had penetrated the Dulka Pass and entered Hungary. April saw the begining of violent assaults upon the German lines by the French east of Verdun and the Meuse. The French stormed the German position at Les Eparges and about the same time it was officially announced that the total of British casualties to that date were 139,347. By the middle of April the Russians had penetrated Hungary to a point twenty miles over the border, and the Germans had begun a successful assault upon the Allied lines near Ypres. For several weeks the armies struggled back and forth losing thousands of men, gaining ground one day and being forced to evacuate their positions the next. In Galicia during the first three days of May the German-Austrian forces broke through the Russian lines and forced a retreat. Fifty thousand prisoners, it was reported, were taken.

Around Ypres the British forces lost ground and were finally forced to evacuate an especially strong position they had gained at an elevation designated as Hill No. 60. Almost simultaneously the Russians began a retreat from the Carpathian passes and while this was in progress the Cunard liner Lusitania, bound from New York to Liverpool was sent to the bottom by a torpedo fired by a German submarine. Approximately 1,200 lives were lost in the disaster.

The loss of Americans in the Lusitania and other vessels which were victims of German's submarine warfare resulted in President Wilson protesting against a continuance of such tactics.

On May 23, Italy declared war on Austria-Hungary after having denounced early in the month the Triple Alliance Treaty. The declaration of war was quickly followed by raids upon the Italian coast cities by Austrian aeroplanes. The Italian army struck across the border into Austria with Trieste and Trent as objectives.

During all the time the Allied warships in the Dardanelles had been keeping up practically a continuous bombardment of the shore forts. Numerous warships of different types were sunk. Transports were hurled to sea and troops were landed. On June 3 the Austro-German forces recaptured Przemyśl.

During June 10, the Serbians inaugurated a campaign to secure a seaport on the Adriatic. Troops were sent across the border into Albania, with the support of Durazzo as an objective. Montenegro also dispatched troops into Albania, an independent nation recognized by the chief powers at the close of the second Balkan war.

Dirigible airships and aeroplanes made numerous raids during the winter and spring. London and Warsaw were the objective of a number of trips made by Zeppelin airships, while Paris was visited by hostile aeroplanes. French and British aircraft attacked various points in Germany, dropping explosive and fire bombs.

SPECULATION AS TO SUCCESSOR OF ROBERT LANSING

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, June 28.—Gossip concerning the successor to Secretary Lansing as counselor of the state department continued today with prominent mention in official quarters of John W. Davis, solicitor-general of the department of justice, former Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania, was suggested as Mr. Davis' probable successor. No selection is likely, however, until President Wilson returns from Cornish, N. H.

Inasmuch as the position of counselor requires a thorough familiarity with international law, it is thought likely in some quarters that some man who has represented the United States on arbitration tribunals or is now engaged in the practice of international law will be selected.

CRITICISM

OF METHODS OF EMPLOYMENT OF FOREIGN LABOR ON CONSTRUCTION

Of Government Railroad in Alaska. Answered by Chairman of Engineering Commission.

(Associated Press Telegram) Seward, Alaska June 28.—Replying to criticisms said to have been made by the unemployed here and at Ship Creek, regarding the methods of the Alaska engineering commission in its work of constructing the government railroad from Seward to Fairbanks, William S. Edes, chairman of the commission, in a statement given out today says:

"We have been criticised for employing what is referred to as foreign labor and for cutting the so-called Alaska wage scale.

"The men gathered here to secure station work are above the average. Many come here from the railroads just completed in Canada and we are fortunate to get such experienced help.

"The commission is handicapped by the federal eight-hour law, because the season is only seven or eight months long and the men would prefer working longer hours for more pay. The wages paid are 37 1-2 cents an hour, which after deducting a dollar a day for board, leaves two dollars. With 24 hours daylight, the men could work ten hours with ease. With this in mind, the commission is letting out contracts to groups of men so that they may work as long as they wish."

EYEWITNESS TELLS OF HOSTILE AIRCRAFTS IN A DRAMATIC DUEL

(Associated Press Telegram) London, June 28.—A dramatic air duel in which a British aeroplane reconnoitering over the Belgian town of Poelcapelle at a height of 4,000 feet met and engaged a large German biplane which had double engines and propellers, is described by the eyewitness at the British army headquarters, in a narrative made public today by the official press bureau. He writes:

"The German machine first circled around ours at the same time shooting a machine gun but so far as known, not inflicting any damage. Then our observer fired fifty rounds in return at a range less than 200 yards. It had some effect, for the hostile biplane was seen to waver and after more shots, its engines stopped. The enemy airplane then dove to a level of 2,000 feet, where it again flattened its course flying slowly and erratically.

"Under heavy anti-aircraft fire from below our pilot turned toward our line to complete his reconnaissance. When his machine was hit he decided to make for some hut but the petrol tank had been pierced and as the aeroplane glided downwards on a slant the petrol was set alight by the exhaust and ran blazing down the front of the body of the aeroplane which traveled onto the accompaniment of a rattle of musketry as the unused rounds of machine gun ammunition exploded in the heat and the pilots loaded revolver was discharged.

"The pilot, however, did not lose control and the aeroplane proceeded steadily on a downward course. Before it had reached the ground a large part of the framework had been destroyed. Even the hard wood blades of the propeller were so burned that the propeller ceased to revolve.

"When the machine finally landed back of our lines both officers had been severely burned and the pilot climbing out of the blazing wreck tripped over a wire stay and sprained his ankle. The few serviceable portions of the aeroplane were then collected and removed under the shrapnel of the German guns."

NEWARK AND AKRON SPLIT IN TWO GAMES

PITCHER MAHAN AIDED IN VICTORY BY AKRON'S NINE ERRORS.

Strawn Called Upon to Relieve Pitcher Blubaugh for Second Game—Team Bats Well.

Akron, O., June 28.—Akron split Sunday's double-header with Newark, dropping the first game 11 to 3, and winning the second, 10 to 6.

Errors lost the first game for Akron, Pitcher Linne being brought in to hot water many times through the errors back of him. Akron started by gathering a six-run lead, and then virtually presented the game to Newark by bunching errors in the seventh inning.

Shoner, the amateur star from Uniontown, held Newark to five hits in the second, and easily won his game. He also was responsible for six of Akron's runs by his hard hitting. He struck out 11 men.

SPRINGFIELD AND PIQUA TO JOIN LEAGUE

Plans are all set to receive Springfield and Piqua into full membership in the Buckeye league for the start of the second season, July 9, according to announcement made today by Manager Wreath. President Lawson is in Springfield completing the details for the entry of that club which will be managed by Buzz Wetzel, late of the Marion club.

Piqua is also set for the start and Manager Skelley, who has charge of the Canton club after Fred Paige's departure, will be in charge. Both managers are now recruiting their clubs and will be ready for the opening games on July 9. The first half of the season closes with the games scheduled for July 8.

At Piqua, there have been satisfactory adjustments and Sandy Murray has returned to that club as playing manager. Bernie Holman, owner of the Lima ball park, has been placed in charge of the club's business affairs.

C. S. Buckley of Lima, will be in Newark today for another conference with local people who have been interested in the affairs of the Newark club. It is possible that some definite action will be taken before the present Akron series is closed.

A Hypnotic Manager and His $50,000 Star.

EDDIE COLLINS

MANAGER ROWLAND

Clarence Rowland, the new manager of the White Sox, shares honors with Collins, for whom the Chicago team paid the record price in baseball history. A few weeks ago Rowland was unknown; today he is famous and credited with having almost supernatural powers in controlling his players and their plays. Last year Rowland was the manager of the Peoria, Ill., team in the "Three-I" League and his team finished second. In the few weeks of his big league experience he has established himself as one of the best baseball leaders ever produced.

Eddie Collins, always a great favorite with the fans, from his Columbia College days on, was thought by the White Sox to be worth the unprecedented price of $50,000. Just now he is earning the salary of many a bank president by helping to keep his team at the top of the race.

COLUMBIA AND CORNELL WERE MOST FAVORED

IN BETTING TO WIN OVER FIELD, AND EVEN AGAINST EACH OTHER

Syracuse, Stanford and Pennsylvania Had Supporting However for Poughkeepsie Regatta.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 28.—The oar and the oarsman reigned supreme here today. With twelve crews, representing five universities, competing in the annual regatta of the intercollegiate rowing association on the Hudson and thousands of spectators gathered along the course, Poughkeepsie became the mecca of the rowing devotee.

Regatta day broke with ideal weather forecasts and there was every indication that the races would be rowed under excellent weather conditions. With a clear sky and just enough breeze to ripple the river, the oarsmen of Cornell, Pennsylvania, Stanford, Syracuse and Columbia could not have improved upon the weatherman's offering.

Special trains, steamboats and hundreds of automobiles began to deposit their human cargoes at depot and wharf before the townships had finished breakfast. Although the Red of Cornell and the Blue of Columbia prepared to predominate in the color schemes, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and Stanford were not without followers to carry their hues and emblems.

Speculation was confined most exclusively to bets between backers of individual crews. Still the supporters of the various eights in the junior, freshmen and varsity races were able to place wagers large enough to add interest to the contest. In this informal betting Cornell and Columbia were even money bets against each other and slight favorites over Syracuse, Pennsylvania and Stanford. The Syracuse freshmen led the field in the first year crew event while Pennsylvania supporters showed a disposition to lay strongly on their junior shell.

All three competitions promise to have one of the finest marine spectacles seen in many years. A large flotilla of steam yachts excursion and motor driven craft was arriving all morning.

War Orders.

War orders so far given, while of great value to the steel trade and a few others, aggregate but a small fraction of the country's business. But information compiled by The New York Journal of Commerce indicates that the war order business is only in its infancy. Some of the contracts will run for a year or two, which is a sufficient suggestion of the ideas of foreign governments regarding an early closing of hostilities.

The Journal of Commerce puts the contracts already in hand much higher than we have seen them elsewhere estimated. It says that the financial credits established in this country by the allies and their agents already amount to a billion and a half. Great Britain and Russia will spend in this country this year half a billion each. France $400,000,000, and Italy $100,000,000. The contracts actually placed it estimates at $700,000,000 to $800,000,000, of which more than half a billion is in contracts that call for heavy tonnages of iron, steel, copper, spelter, lead and other metals.

The largest items are not for munitions specifically, though undoubtedly for military use. For example, the car and locomotive orders of Russia alone aggregate $78,000,000; the French car orders amount to $11,500,000, and rail orders from various countries amount to $7,000,000. Rolled steel products will foot up to $60,000,000. Copper and lead have advanced greatly in price, and spelter is four or five times as high as it was a year ago. One of the metal trade papers conjectures that spelter has been cornered by German capitalists with a view to bankrupting the allies, and it gives some of the circumstantial evidence in support of this theory. The idea seems wild. The cornering of the metal is probable enough, but why should it not have been cornered by American speculators, or speculators of the allied nations, for that matter, merely for the sake of the profit? An immense demand for cartridges and projectiles would naturally be expected to run the price up, and it would not be strange if speculators with no thoughts above profit had cornered supplies.

Everybody knows that corn exports have been large and wheat exports enormous, and vast numbers of horses have been, and will continue to be, exported, and the demand for shoes and saddles and harness is very great. Besides these articles of export, the derangement of the world's merchant marine has given a great impetus to shipbuilding in American yards. Since the first of January 45 merchant steamers have been contracted for at Atlantic yards, the cost of which will average half a million dollars. Fifty-five other steamers, including 10 for foreign interests are under negotiation, and foreign coal contracts for the past six months amount to 700,000 tons for France, 300,000 tons for Italy, 150,000 tons for Spain, and smaller amounts for Egypt.

We are not making money out of the war, but the supplying of foreign governments is doing a good deal to offset the damage inflicted upon our normal export business by the European hostilities.

But One Question.

(Pittsburg Dispatch)
The statement of counsel for New York in the issue to determine the question of Harry Thaw's present sanity, that he expects to put Thaw on the stand and lead him through a recital of his entire life, would indicate that the length of the trial is to be a matter solely at his option, and that he could consume weeks, if he wished, in following up the devious windings of the defendant's mental and personal trail. But may be Judge Hendricks will not allow him to do this.

There is but one question before the jury: Is Harry Thaw sane or insane? If he were a man in the common walks of life, known to few, and unknown to notoriety, the matter of his mental soundness would be settled inside of 24 hours. There is no apparent reason why like speed should not be observed in this case. In prior judicial proceedings involving this celebrated prisoner, the courts were largely controlled by interested lawyers in the consumption of time, with the result that in the opinion of many attorneys, court trial methods suffered severely in public estimation as to their businesslike character. Maybe Judge Hendricks will promptly squelch any signs from either side of a disposition to lug in a mass of extraneous evidence, such as is usually designed to confuse and not clarify the minds of jurors.

United States Goes Ahead.

(Collier's for July 3.)
If any class of men is aware of the general business situation, it is the bankers. They see many sides of our economic affairs and have to keep the future constantly and carefully in mind. In the long run they succeed or fail according to the accuracy or inaccuracy of their mental picture of the country's continuing business life. They must look for the main factors and see the major tendencies. It is significant, therefore, that Mr. James H. Manning, president of the Savings Banks Association of the State of New York, devoted most of his annual address before that body to discussing the "unmistakable signs of rapidly approaching prosperity." Our enormous crops and other natural resources are the real basis of this prosperity, because we are the only nation that has food and metals to sell and money to loan. The coming harvests promise great yields to the farmers, and this will mean good times for manufacturers and merchants also in the long run. Copper, iron, and steel are also moving on the upslide with great strength and volume. Better conditions are reflected in the reports of the United States Steel Corporation and in the earnings of the railroads. There is every reason for believing that this will be an increasingly good business year as the months go by.

A Quick Diagnosis.
A youthful physician had been summoned as a witness in a case which depended on technical evidence, and opposing counsel in cross-examination asked several sarcastic questions about the knowledge and skill of so young a doctor.
"Are you," he asked, "entirely familiar with the symptoms of concussion of the brain?"
"Yes."
"Then I should like to ask your opinion of a hypothetical case. Were my learned friend, Mr. Banks and myself to bang our heads together, should we get concussion of the brain?"
"Mr. Banks might,"—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

Double Trouble.
"Mein Gott, it is too much! Ain't it enough that I fight for der Vaterland? Now der Emperor says we should marry before leaving for der front."—Life.

TAKE A LOOK
IF YOU HAVE TIME

There is at least this to be said for angels: They do not play the bagpipe.

A man will admit that his wife has her faults, but he won't stand for criticism of his bird dog.

Every artist's conception of Father Time seems to be that of an elderly man with two buttons off his undershirt.

Up to the time a man is forty he doesn't mind being referred to as "The Old Man."

The time is coming when every man will have to buy his own land, instead of marrying an Indian lady for it.

Nearly every woman is accommodating to the extent that if a man is little slow in proposing she will do it for him.

What, recurring again to the old-fashioned man, became of the widower who wore a watchchain made of his deceased wife's hair?

It is difficult to determine whether the man who works the loud pedal or the one who whispers it to you is the greater nuisance.

If perfume gave out the odor of broiling beef steak, the men would buy a great deal of it.

AFTER STORM

The wind has blown the clouds away, and now we have a perfect day, the sun is saving wood, we jog along beneath smiling skies, the sounds of grief no more arise, and every gentle feels good. Life seems a most delightful affair when nature once again has laughed, dismissing clouds and gloom, we find new charms in Mother Earth, our faces beam with gleaming smiles, our whiskers are in bloom. That is the use of dreary days, on which we're all inclined to raise a yell of bitter grief; they fill us up with woe and dread, so when the gloomy clouds are sped, we'll feel a big relief. That is the use of every care that fills your system with despair, and sends your heart in twain; when you see your sorrow waltz, you'll turn three hundred somersaults, and say life's safe and sane. If there was not a sign of woe in all this verdant vale below, life soon would lose its zest, and you would straightway roar and beef because you couldn't find a grief to cuddle to your breast. So sunshine follows after storm, and snow succeeds the weather warm, and we have fog and sleet, all sorts of days are sliding past, and when we size things up at last, we see life can't be beat.

Wife of New
Secretary of State

Mrs. Robert Lansing

Mrs. Lansing, wife of the new secretary of state, is well equipped for the leadership of the cabinet circles in social affairs. The social duties are not new to her, for her father, John W. Foster, was secretary of state during the Harrison administration.

Mrs. Lansing is a striking and popular woman. Much of her husband's success is attributed to her helpfulness and rare tact.

THE SICK

Mrs. H. T. Smith, who has been a patient at the Newark Sanatorium, was removed Friday evening in the Bradley ambulance to her home, 143 North Twelfth street.

Mrs. Claggott of 180 South Pine street was removed in the Bradley ambulance Saturday from her home to the Newark Sanatorium where she will receive treatment for rheumatism.

Mrs. G. A. Trace of 25 Holiday street who was operated upon for tumor at the Sanatorium, was taken to her home in the Bradley ambulance Sunday.

Dr. W. H. Knapp, health officer who was operated upon at the City Hospital two weeks ago, is improving rapidly. He was removed to his home Monday in the Bradley ambulance.

Miss Anna Eric who is a patient at the City Hospital, having been operated upon for gall stones, is improving.

Russell McCann of 195 Clinton street, who has been a patient at the City Hospital for seven weeks, was taken to his home Monday in the Bradley ambulance.

A. A. Schauweker
Leads Salesmen of Hoosier Mfg. Co.

Arthur A. Schauweker of this city, salesman for the Hoosier Manufacturing company, has been advised of his success in a contest conducted by the company, offering as a grand prize, a trip to the Panama Pacific exposition. Mr. Schauweker won the grand prize as well as a special prize offered by the company. The trip includes a liberal expense check and a month's leave of absence on full pay.

The contest was open to all salesmen for the company and the prizes were offered to those making the best percentage of efficiency in salesmanship. Mr. Schauweker's percentage was 143.52. Guy Lemmon was second with a percentage of 120.43.

Mr. Schauweker has been the leading salesman of the Hoosier company all this year. He has been with the company for three years, ever since he was graduated from college.

SERIES OF BURGLARIES
TERRORIZES CLEVELAND;
NEGRO CHOKES WOMAN

(Associated Press Telegram)
Cleveland, O., June 28.—A series of burglaries and holdups over the city last night and this morning was climaxed by the choking into unconsciousness of Miss Louise Staiger, 27, by a negro she surprised trying to break into the apartment of G. S. Irenkamp, where she was employed as a domestic. As she started to enter the apartment, the girl saw the man trying to pry open a window. She grabbed a revolver and threatened to shoot if the girl made a noise. She screamed and he choked her but occupants of the building aroused by the cry came to her rescue and the negro fled. The girl was later revived.

Spirit of the Press

Siegel's Sentence.

Henry Siegel was given the choice of "producing" $150,000 cash on the spot and mortgaging the balance of his life to pay a debt of $2,000,000 more or take 10 months in a New York penitentiary. Did Henry take the 10? He did. Henry is no Jay. But what about the law that made possible so ridiculous an alternative?—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Dream of Peace.

A pacifist in Yonkers, N. Y., has published a book to explain how easy it would be to avert war. No hostile act should be committed till a majority of the people shall have voted for it. By the time election day arrived the enemy would be in possession of everything, including the polling places. The scheme is an admirable one—if the other fellow could be trusted to adopt it. It is probably due to the over-crowded condition of our asylums that persons capable of such fantastic ideas are at large.—Philadelphia Record.

The Power of Song.

Signor d'Annunzio, Italy's poet idol and political leader, comes nearest of all men to justify the dictum of Fletcher of Saltoun regarding the power of the poet as a law-maker. For d'Annunzio has "sung" Italy into war by his own ballads. In order that Fletcher may not suffer from the usual misquotation, his actual words may be here set down. They are taken from an "Imaginary Conversation": "I knew," he says, "a very wise man so much of Sir Christopher's sentiment that he believed if a man was permitted to make all the ballads he need not care who should make the laws of a nation."—London Chronicle.

His Real Victory.

The writer has seldom witnessed deeper feeling or more enthusiastic applause from a student audience than that which greeted the confession of a Southern student who arose before the men of his university and confessed dishonesty in debate. The young man had recently won the sophomore-junior prize debate, but later in chapel he asked permission to make a statement to the student body, saying: "I overheard my opponent rehearsing his debate in an adjoining room, and although I stopped my ears and refused to listen, my roommate took down the points. Afterwards the temptation was so subtle and strong that I took the notes and arranged my debate accordingly and won. But," said the student, with feeling, "I stole it, and I have come to plead the forgiveness of the student body."—The Christian Herald.

Yankee Fodder.
Senator Hoar used to tell with glee of a Southerner just home from New England who said to his friend, "You know those little white round beans?"

"Yes," replied the friend, "the kind we feed to our horses?"
"The very same. Well, do you know, sir, that in Boston the enlightened citizens take those little white round beans, boil them for three or four hours, mix them with molasses, and I know not what other ingredients, bake them and then—what do you suppose they do with the beans?"

"They eat 'em, sir," interrupted the first Southerner impressively; "bless me, sir, they eat 'em!"—Christian Register.

Peace Without Honor Had No Place In the Political Creed of Washington

By JAMES M. BECK, Former Assistant Attorney General of the United States

WASHINGTON, too, faced the problem of a world which was in flames. Himself a man of peace, who never willingly drew the sword and who never unwillingly sheathed it when full justice had been done, he yet repeatedly and forcefully warned his countrymen that they must always be prepared to defend their interests and vindicate the honor of the nation.

IF HE WAS THE FIRST IN PEACE HE WAS ALWAYS FIRST IN WAR. HE WAS AN ARDENT LOVER OF PEACE, WITH THIS VITAL RESERVATION, THAT IF THE ONLY CHOICE LAY BETWEEN PEACE WITH DISHONOR AND WAR TO SECURE JUSTICE, HE NEVER HESITATED TO SELECT THE COURSE OF NATIONAL HONOR AND DIGNITY.

While Washington was a strong believer in the policy of an adequate army and navy as the best insurance against war, yet he was too noble an idealist to ignore even greater and more potent values in civilization, and he therefore BELIEVED THAT THE BEST METHOD OF PRESERVING FOR THIS COUNTRY THE BLESSING OF AN HONORABLE PEACE WAS NOT MERELY TO BE STRONG IN RESOURCES, BUT TO HAVE THE GREATER STRENGTH OF AN UNSULLIED CONSCIENCE.

Things to Worry About.
The human stomach is growing smaller.

Luke McLuke Says:
Every now and then two married men will hang over a bar for three hours and tell each other how much their wives gab.

Any old time a woman passes three other women and doesn't see powder on their faces she gets scared and hot-foots it to an eye doctor.

A boy hasn't a bit of trouble in learning the things that he should not know.

Up to date old Dr. Matrimony has never failed to cure a case of lovesickness.

A man isn't such a much. If the possession of a mustache entitled you to a vote some of the women would be voting.

Any way, an old maid has the consolation of knowing that she was born that way.

The man who marries for money usually gets bunked, and on the other hand, the woman who is married for her money never gets her money's worth.

When father decides to stay home in the evening and mother usually begins telling the children about what a good time she used to have when she was a girl and before she was married. And mother will sigh and say: "I wish I had it to do over again. I'll bet I would stay single." And then father will get mad and slam the door and go up to the Dutchman's place and indignantly about the war.

The average man believes that if other men were like him this would be a fine world.

The only time father ever does anything for himself when he is at home is when he and mother have had a battle and are not on speaking terms.

After all, flattery is nothing but bearing some one else recite the nice things we have always believed about ourselves.

An honest working girl's skirt may look as though she had slept in it for a year and her waist may be soiled, but as long as she knows that her nose isn't shiny she is prepared to face the world.

The only labor some men do is to work on the sympathies of others.

Spots on the Sun.
Strictly speaking, spots on the sun are not spots, because they are shifting in form and of changing duration in particular localities. Scientists do not account for them definitely, but they are supposed to be floating masses of gaseous matter, enough lighter than the main body of the sun to form obscuring shadows on its surface. Of whatever material they are composed they belong to the sun. They are never entirely stationary or quiescent, but form and reform continually. "The length of their life," says a scientist, "is difficult to assign, because there is some tendency for a new group to arise where an old one has disappeared, but one is recorded which appeared on the same place for eighteen months. The average is perhaps two months. They play some part in the magnetic action of the sun, but it is not known what."

—Philadelphia Press.

A Hint to Golfers.
If there is one part of the game more than another that is likely to try the golfer's patience to the utmost it is putting. When we consider that half of the game of golf is on the putting green is not this a good reason why we should be prodigal at it? But how are we to overcome this weakness on the greens?

The only real sound theory that is known for putting is to swing your putter on a dead straight line through the ball toward the hole. You can practice this method by putting the end of the putter head close up to a wall and practice swinging your putter back and forth. A pendulum movement is best, keeping the end of the putter close to the wall. Try it and see if it does not help your holing out.—Outing.

Strictly speaking, spots on the sun are not spots, because they are shifting in form and of changing duration in particular localities. Scientists do not account for them definitely, but they are supposed to be floating masses of gaseous matter, enough lighter than the main body of the sun to form obscuring shadows on its surface. Of whatever material they are composed they belong to the sun. They are never entirely stationary or quiescent, but form and reform continually. "The length of their life," says a scientist, "is difficult to assign, because there is some tendency for a new group to arise where an old one has disappeared, but one is recorded which appeared on the same place for eighteen months. The average is perhaps two months. They play some part in

SEIZED SAM JOHNSON AGED 52 AND HE WAS DROWNED IN CREEK

Faithful Terrier Attempted to Rescue Master, and Then Mutely Called Help.

[Special to The Advocate]

Granville, June 28.—Raccoon creek claimed another victim yesterday morning in the person of Sam Johnson (colored) aged fifty-two years, who had resided with his brother, Harter Johnson for several years in Clones Lane, very near to the creek. In accordance with his daily custom for some years past, Mr. Johnson left the house at half past four o'clock in the morning to look after his duties. As usual he was accompanied by his faithful dog, a small terrier. Contrary to his usual custom of returning in half an hour, however, the family grew somewhat uneasy when an hour had passed with no signs of his return. The appearance of the dog all wet and muddy, gave the alarm and immediately friends and neighbors of the unfortunate man ran to the creek to rescue him. No signs of him were found until the dog ran to the broken place in the bank where his master had slipped into a hole over ten feet in depth. A raft was hurriedly constructed and the creek was dragged until at half past nine o'clock the body was taken from the water. His watch had stopped at eight minutes before five, showing that he had been in the water for over four hours and a half. Unable to swim, and probably attacked by cramps, he was unable to help himself, even with the frantic efforts of the dog to rescue him. He was unharmed but is survived by several brothers and sisters. Mr. Harter Johnson who is employed in the Everett glass work in Newark, Porter Johnson of Danville, John Johnson and Walter (Phoebe) Johnson of Granville, Mrs. Charles Pason of Granville. Funeral services will be held at the home in Clones avenue on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment in West Hills cemetery. Coroner W. L. Jackson viewed the body and will render a verdict of accidental drowning.

The coroner's office for the fourth of July celebration in Granville has arranged the following program which should be of interest to the young men of the community. Tennis tournament, ball game, croquet, polo, croquet, three-legged race, sack race, foot race, dash, relay race, automobile race. Prizes will be given in all these events for first and second places. Some races are open to all, some races are limited to untrained athletes; some events are for boys under 15. Prizes will be displayed in the window of George Piper's meat market. All automobile owners are requested to report to Mr. Roe Morrow, chairman of the parade committee. All organizations are urged to be represented in the procession.

Dr. George A. Dorsey of Chicago, who with his daughter, Miss Dorothy, has been spending a few days at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Dorsey, left for home last evening. Miss Dorothy Swartz is entertaining Miss Rabb of Xenia and Miss Roubush of Cincinnati at her home in Elm street.

The executive committee of the Baptist Women's Missionary Organization will meet at the home of Mrs. Robert Biggs in Burg street on Tuesday evening.

President Clark W. Chamberlain has returned from a trip to the East. While absent he attended the commencement exercises at Allegheny college, Meadville, Pa., commemorating the hundredth anniversary of that institution.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Jones who spent the past week in New York City, returned to their home on the Newark road Sunday.

Miss Mildred Hunt is spending the summer vacation at the home of her mother, Mrs. Helen Hunt in Park drive.

GIVING OUT

The Struggle Discourages Many a Citizen of Newark.

Around all day with an aching back.

Can't rest at night.

Enough to make any one "give out."

Loan's Kidney Pills are helping thousands.

They are for kidney backache; and other kidney ills.

Here is Newark proof of their merit:

Mrs. W. Sherrard, 28 North Ave., Newark, says: "I had kidney complaint and suffered a great deal from my back. Often when I was doing my housework I had pains across my back and they were so severe that I had to lie down. I read about Loan's Kidney Pills and what they had done for others and decided to try them. procuring a supply at East's Drug Store. Soon after taking them, I was benefited. This was over a year ago and I haven't been troubled by kidney complaint since. Another of the family has used Loan's Kidney Pills with good results."

ARREST

MADE IN CONNECTION WITH ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF WEALTHY CANDYMAKER.

Washington Attorney Said to Have Been in Plot to Kill His Father-in-Law.

[Associated Press Telegram]

Pittsburg, Pa., June 28.—George McHenry, a waiter of Washington, D. C., who was arrested there and brought here last night in connection with an attempt on the life of Franklin T. Schneider, a wealthy candy manufacturer in a hotel here last Thursday, was identified today by G. W. Morris, manager of the hotel, as having been a guest there the day Schneider was assaulted. McHenry and Thomas G. Forney, Washington attorney, who is alleged by the police to have confessed that he was implicated in the plot to kill Schneider, his father-in-law, will be given a hearing June 30 on charges of felonious assault and battery with attempt to kill. Forney is being closely guarded by the police as they believe he will attempt to take his life if he has an opportunity. He is said to be the son of Frank Forney, a wealthy farmer of Linton Mills, O., and to have had a brilliant record at the Ohio State University at Columbus, where he was educated.

Forney was taken to the county jail this morning where he will be held without bail until the hearing. He denied to the officers that he contemplated suicide, but they deprived him of his belt, garters and suspenders. Schneider, the police declared, would be the principal witness at the hearing.

AN ORATOR AT O. S. U.

[Associated Press Telegram]

Columbus, June 28.—Forney was a student at Ohio State and attracted attention there because of his oratorical powers. He got his diploma, however, from Ohio Northern where he was the valedictorian of his class.

ANOTHER ARREST AT ATLANTIC CITY IN THE SCHNEIDER CASE

[Associated Press Telegram]

Atlantic City, N. J., June 28.—Harry C. Carlyle, 23, who is alleged to be involved in the Schneider case at Pittsburg, was taken into custody here this afternoon by Detective Charles Apple as he entered the post-office. He is held for requisition. Carlyle, aside from saying he is a chauffeur, will make no statement. He is held as a fugitive.

"AM CURED," SAYS JOHN P. JONES

North Fifth Street Man Tells How Nery-Worth Made Him Clear Over.

Some time ago a convincing endorsement of Nery-Worth given by John P. Jones of 24 North Fifth street, was printed in these columns. Mr. Jones had been the victim of nervous disorders and he reported having derived marked benefit from Nery-Worth. Now he comes out with a supplementary statement which no one should miss reading. Here it is:

Newark, June 5, 1915.

The T. J. Evans Drug Store, City:

Gentlemen: I have taken three bottles of Nery-Worth and am cured. Sometimes I have a little headache but then I take a dose or two of the remedy and the trouble is all over. No nervousness at all and I rest fine at night. Am in excellent health.

(Signed) John P. Jones.

Coming from such a man and in such words could any evidence be more conclusive? Buy Nery-Worth at the Evans Drug Store, Warden block, 31 North Fifth street. Money back if it fails you. Adv.

REESSE, DENISON STAR, GETS TRIAL ON NEWARK CLUB

Dave Reesse, star infielder of the Denison University baseball team, has signed for a trial at first with the Newark Buckeye League club, and probably will play in this afternoon's game against the Akron club. Reesse helped to keep the Denison team in the ranks of the state's best college teams and it is believed that he will add strength to the club.

Newark and Akron clubs arrived here this morning for a three-game series at Wehrle Park. No double-headers will be played in this series as both clubs are hard pressed for conditioned pitchers. Newark's two double-headers in as many days has overburdened the pitching staff and was necessary to call upon Straw for relief work in Sunday's game.

Akron plays here Tuesday and Wednesday.

FILMS WILL SHOW NEWARK PEOPLE IN LORAIN PARADE

The local Aerie of Eagles has succeeded after a great deal of trouble and much expense, in securing the moving pictures of the recent Eagle parade at Lorain during the state convention. In the films are also shown views of the Newark Boosters at work in an effort to capture the delegates. They succeeded to a nicety and the big convention comes to Newark next year. The pictures are interesting, clear and distinct and will be shown at the Lyric theatre Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The proceeds of the entertainment will go into the convention fund, which will be used in entertaining the thousands of visitors who will be here next summer.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Kelly of Utica were guests of Mrs. Salesbury in High street on Saturday.

MURDER TRIAL OF AN EX-POLICEMAN BEGINS IN LIMA

Lima, O., June 28.—The first degree murder trial of Ralph W. Roberts, 30, former policeman here, was begun in court today. He is charged with the death of Daisy Coon, 18, in a local hotel, March 1. According to the story told by Roberts at that time he had registered at the hotel with the girl as man and wife, and they, unable to sleep, had bought chloroform, saturated a sponge with it, and placed it on the pillow between their heads. When Roberts woke in the morning, the girl with her nose buried in the sponge, was dead. He was indicted for murder.

2. Give an account of Washington's trip to Fort Duquesne, first stating carefully the purpose.
3. When England and France were at war in the opening years of the nineteenth century, what measures did our government take with a view to protecting our shipping and avoiding further complications? With what result?
4. Name the thirteen original states. What were the three first admitted after the Union was formed? In a few words

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED

Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. P. W. LANSING, Box 8, Allam, Wash.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

one had struck a note of personal animosity which was a disgrace to the paper for which he wrote.
7. Give a complete synopsis of the verb delay in the third person, plural.
8. What is meant by a parenthetical expression? A pleonastic expression?

ORTHOGRAPHY.

1. Mark diacritically discern, hostile, character, dessert, symphony, sanctuary, ethereal, grandeur, recalcitrant, marine.
2. Define diphthong, triphthong, digraph, trigraph, aspirate.
3. Give plurals of sheep, calf, cannon, tomato, life, archduke, noble, Jones, data, attorney.
- 4.5. Spell and define: retrieve, renegade, horizon, generation, discordant, accessible, presumptuous, deface, venerable, vagrant.
- 6.8. Spell: resistance, fragrance, murmur, emerald, gorgeous, rapture, breathe, precious, harmonious, pursuing, labyrinth, zephyr, marriage, explicit, flagrant, philosophic, license, predatory, limousine, allopathy, resuscitate, Sacramento, Deuteronomy, rhododendron.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

- (Take two of the groups below entire.)
Group A. (Based on Pearson's The Evolution of the Teacher.)
1. Give two examples of attaining an end indirectly by tactful conduct or comment.
2. Into what two divisions does the author divide aims? What are some of the important aims to which he calls attention?
3. "The problem element in teaching" is one of the most important topics treated in this book. Show its importance.
4. Show the necessity of proceeding from what a pupil knows.
Group B. (Based on Betts and Hall's Better Rural Schools.)
1. What is necessary that a teacher may effectively overcome opposition to progress in the rural schools?
2. To what extent and with what purpose should the teacher participate in the pupils' play?
3. What should the teacher and the school do to raise prevailing low hygienic standards?
4. Discuss the statement: "There is no excuse today for expending public funds in the erection of rural buildings of the old type."
Group C. (Based on no particular text.)
1. Speak of the importance and value of giving encouragement.
2. Discuss the importance of correct speech, and the methods of securing it.
3. What is the value of rest periods? When should they come? What should be their length, and how should they be employed by teacher and by pupils?
4. Write a paragraph on "Quiet in the Schoolroom."

GEOGRAPHY.

1. Name 5 of the provinces of Canada. What is the capital of Canada? The chief Pacific port?
2. In what states of the United States is fishing a leading industry? Tell how the industry is pursued in each, the chief species of fish, and the city most prominently identified with it.
3. What and where are 8 of the following: Monte Carlo, Colon, St. Pierre, the Manxmen, the Antilles, Tierra del Fuego, the Golden Gate, Middle Park, the Garden of the Gods, Sao Francisco, the Rialto, Westminster Abbey?
4. Show what effect, owing to the industries pursued and the commerce, the possible isolation during the war will have upon the sustenance of Switzerland and the ability of its people to make a living.
5. Give an account of the interests which England, Germany and Italy, respectively, have in Africa.
6. Locate Korea, Mongolia and Manchuria. What are the chief ports of China and Japan? From what concession did Japan drive out Germany?
7. Give an account of Peru—surface, climate, industries, products, chief city, classes of people inhabiting it, government.
8. Mention at least three streams of the United States which afford water-power and a city at which it is utilized. Where is the large new plant for utilizing Mississippi water power and what is the method? How is Niagara's water-power utilized?

READING.

The examination in reading is oral. The examiner will conduct the examination following any plan desired.

PHYSIOLOGY.

1. What had effects come from unclear or decayed teeth?
2. Describe the pulmonary circulation.
3. Explain the nature of tuberculosis. How is it communicated? What part can the teachers take in its prevention?
4. What is the location and importance of the appendix?
5. Explain how a muscle acts in making a bone move.
6. Explain how mustard plasters and other burning preparations relieve a cold in the chest.
7. Tell of the source of saliva, the organs for its secretion and discharge, and its purpose and action.
8. How is the heat of the body kept up? What helps cool it in hot weather?

GRAMMAR.

1. Decline who. Place the proper form in each of these sentences: (a) He — you thought guilty has been proved innocent. (b) This is the opinion of those — we think have given the question most study.

CANAL TOLLS ARE NOW EXCEEDING OPERATION COST

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, June 28.—A total of $4,000,000 in tolls was collected for the use of the Panama canal in the period of time between the opening of the waterway for traffic in May last year, up to June 6 last.

During April, the tolls for the first time were greater than the cost of operation and maintenance of the canal by $84,112 the total for the month being $422,415 and the cost of operation $358,303, the latter being the last for any month since the opening of the canal. The reduction in operating expenses were due largely to diminished dredging operations.

Partial returns for May indicate that the tolls for that month will swell the total of the eleven months preceding to a figure sufficient to wipe out the previous existing deficit.

These calculations do not take into account interest on the capital invested in the canal.

Girls With Beautiful Faces Or Graceful Figures

American girls have a world-wide reputation for beauty. But, at the same time, there are girls in our cities who possess neither beauty of face nor form, because in these instances they suffer from nervousness, the result of disorders of the womanly organism. At regular intervals they suffer so much that their strength leaves them; they are so prostrated that it takes days for them to recover their strength. Of course, such periodic distress has its bad effect on the nervous system. The withered and drawn faces, the dark circles and crow's feet about the eyes, the straight figure without those curves which lend so much to feminine beauty are the unmistakable signs of womanly disorders.

When a girl becomes a woman, when a woman becomes a mother, when women pass through the changes of middle life, are the three periods of life when health and strength are most needed to withstand the pain and distress often caused by severe organic disturbances.

At those critical times women are best fortified by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, an old remedy of proved worth that keeps the entire female system perfectly regulated and in excellent condition.

Mothers, if your daughters are weak, lack ambition, are troubled with headaches, lassitude and are pale and sickly, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is just what they need to surely bring the bloom of health to their cheeks and make them strong and healthy.

If you are a sufferer, if your daughter, mother, sister need help get Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in liquid or tablet form. Then address Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive confidential advice from a staff of specialists, that's free; also 136 page book on women's diseases sent free—Adv.

VERDUN OBJECTIVE OF GERMAN COLUMN; FURIOUS FIGHTING

(Associated Press Telegram)

Paris, June 28.—The Germans, in fighting furiously at Bagatelle and in the trenches of Calonne are seeking to approach the strongly-fortified town of Verdun, according to Lieutenant Colonel Rousset, military critic of the Petit Parisien. He believes they are seeking to gain control of the railroad from Chalons to Sainte Menhould. While they are aiming at Verdun from two directions the critic believes the efforts of their army will prove futile.

DECAPITATED BY TRAIN.

Bellaire, O., June 28.—John Harris, 46 years old, was run down and killed by a B. & O. freight train at Glenora, near here. He was decapitated.

The Narrow Path.

Eph Stebbins became intoxicated Saturday evening and tried to drive his yoke of steers into the post-office, but failed on account of the door being too narrow. There have been many other complaints recently on account of the narrowness of the door at the post-office.—Hamburg (Pa.) Item.

Expert Advice For the Automobile Owner

Queries and Replies Covering Matters of Importance to the Man Who Runs a Car

How will incorrect wiring affect a motor?

The effect of incorrect wiring on the motor depends on how the wires are misplaced. For instance, if the high tension cables were changed around so that no one of them went to the right plug it would be impossible to run the motor, although an occasional explosion might be obtained. If two or three of the high tension wires were interchanged, but one or more were left on the correct plugs, then the motor would run on the cylinders in which the latter were. Where a dual system is employed the wires of a battery system may sometimes be misplaced without interfering with the operation of the magneto and vice versa. As a rule, however, the changing of the wires will result in the whole ignition system becoming inoperative.

Does an engine deliver more or less power to wheels with a friction transmission and chain drive than through the ordinary bevel gears?

The efficiencies of the sliding gear set with the shaft drive and the friction transmission with chain drive are approximately equal on the higher gear ratios, but when the friction wheel is brought near the center of the disk the slippage of the inside edge of the wheel, due to the small circle it is traveling on, causes a power loss that is greater than when the low gear of the sliding gear set is engaged.

Assuming that an automobile stands in a garage 80 per cent out of each twenty-four hours, what would be the saving in casing expense providing the car was put on jacks and kept off the tires during the time it was not in use?

The amount of money you might save by jacking up the wheels when the car is not in use is too small to be measured, providing there is no oil or water on the garage floor that might cause the rubber to deteriorate. The reduction in pressure and consequent lessened strain on the casings when this is done is almost infinitesimal, although it is popularly supposed that relieving the tires from the burden of supporting the car must necessarily relieve them from just that much strain and that therefore they will wear longer if the car is jacked up. The reduction in pressure when this is done is exactly inversely proportional to the increase in volume of the tube. When the tire is supporting the car weight it flattens slightly and one might say, imperceptibly, if the tires are pumped up as hard as they should be. The flattening of the tire causes a small decrease in the volume of the air in the tube and therefore when the tire is raised off the ground it regains its normal shape and normal volume. It is obvious that this small change in volume will not affect the pressure to any extent, since the decrease in pressure is inversely proportional to the increase in volume. And since the decrease in pressure is almost inappreciable the lessened strain and consequent saving in tire cost is inappreciable.

Is there any good preparation for polishing the body of an automobile which will not harm the varnish or paint?

It is not advisable to use polish of any sort on the body. If the finish has become dull have the body repainted. The only rejuvenator worthy of consideration is soap and water, and some body makers condemn the soap, advising the use of water only. However, there is little harm in using lukewarm water and soap, provided the soap is not too strong. In cleaning the body first wash the dust off with a hose and do not apply a sponge or cloth until the dust has been removed and the mud softened. Then sponge the body with soap and water and finally rinse with a hose until the soapy water has been entirely removed. Then wipe dry with chamois. If this advice is followed there will be no need of using any body polish, as the varnish will hold its luster almost indefinitely.

The brake on my car has been dragging for some time. Will this cause the tire to wear more rapidly?

Inasmuch as the dragging brake retards the free movement of the wheel, the tire is made to wear out more quickly than normally. Especially is this so when the brake is applied. The principal detriment, however, lies in the increased work imposed on the motor, which causes it to heat quickly.

Our car has a unit power plant using one grade of oil for crank case, multiple disk clutch and gear set. The oiling system is circulating splash with pump. Can we use graphite in our power plant? If so, how much graphite to the gallon of cylinder oil, and what make?

Use one teaspoonful of flake graphite to each quart of oil. Do not throw the graphite in loose, but mix it into a soft paste first and then add it to the oil. In buying the graphite be careful to obtain a good motor graphite as some graphites are not suited for motor lubrication. Some are too coarse, others too fine and some contain grit. Therefore, be certain you obtain a good motor graphite.

What is the cause of motors failing to pick up, misfire, etc., after slowing down for a short distance?

Quite often loading up of fuel in the inlet passages causes this condition, but more frequently poor carburetor adjustment. A carburetor, especially one with two jets, can be adjusted for quick pick up.

I have a four cylinder motor in which the crank shaft is slightly out of alignment. Is it practical to use this shaft as it is?

If the crankshaft is out of alignment so that it is noticeable in engine operation, it will pay to have the shaft repaired. If that is possible, or have a new shaft installed. You can overcome the difficulty for awhile by taking up the misalignment in the bearings, but with the crank shaft itself sprung, the trouble will return.

Should the use of hard water, containing lime, in the radiator of a car be avoided?

Water containing lime should be avoided. Use rain water instead. Water with any considerable amount of salts, whether soluble or insoluble, should not be used.

Under ordinary conditions about what length of service in miles should the three speed selective type of gears give before needing replacement or becoming excessively noisy?

A gear set usually operates for more than 10,000 miles before it needs attention, and many have been run more than this without requiring more than a change of oil.

When my car is standing and the engine is running with the brakes set there is a knock in the gears. What causes this?

You state that there is a knock in the gears when the motor is running idle, but you do not say whether you mean the timing gears or the gears in the gear box. If it is the timing gears that are making the noise the trouble must be caused either by the gears being loose on their shafts or else the bearings are loose. In order to find where the trouble is it will be necessary to go over the motor. If the knock is in the gears in the gear box it must be caused by loose bearings.

Will you please tell me whether in making connection between two wires it is preferable to splice the wires or loop the ends and hook the loops together?

Splicing the wires has the advantage of making a joint that is compact. Such a joint takes up very little more space than the wire itself, and a spliced joint is also very easy to insulate, as it can be very readily wrapped with tape. This joint makes a good electrical connection and also is more flexible than the loop type. The main advantage of the loop joint is that it is not so easily pulled apart.

Is the amount of current consumed for ignition constant or do different engine speeds or different road conditions cause it to vary?

The consumption of current is proportional to the motor speed. For instance, at 600 revolutions twice as many sparks are required as at 300. However, no more current is required to produce a single spark at 600 or 2,000 for that matter than is required at 300.

My car gives me a lot of trouble through overheating. I am unable to run over eight or ten miles before the water boils in the radiator. The timing is right, the fan works properly, also the pump. There is no obstruction in water lines, and there seems to be nothing wrong in the timing or water circulation. The magneto is advanced as far as possible and I am using a lean mixture. What is the matter?

You have named practically all the conditions that might cause overheating, yet since the trouble is still there it would seem that the search has not been thorough enough. Overheating may be due to a defect in the cooling system, rich mixture, retarded spark, improper lubrication or incorrect valve timing and possibly a slipping clutch or excessive friction in the chassis. Under the first head there are several places where there might be difficulty. First determine that the water is circulating properly by emptying enough water out of the system to uncover the return connection to the top of the radiator. Then with the motor running note whether the water flows freely. If it does not, fill the radiator full of water and run the motor until the water boils. Then feel the various parts of the cooling system, noting the relative temperatures. For instance, if there is an obstruction in the return water header, such as a piece of loose rubber, the water on one side of the obstruction will be hot and on the other cool. Similarly, if the pump is not operating due to a broken vane or a sheared pin that holds the vane to the shaft, then the return header will be very hot, while the lower part of the radiator and the connection from thence to the pump will be cool. If the radiator is clogged up, the top should be very hot and the bottom cooler than usually. It may be that the fan belt is too loose.

LABOR

GETS TWO-THIRDS AND CAPITAL ONE-THIRD OF NET EARNINGS OF MANUFACTURES.

Committee Appointed by Civic Federation To Probe Question Makes Its Report.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

New York, June 28.—A committee on the division of the peoples' income, appointed by the civic federation, in a report today asserted that two-thirds of the net earnings from manufactures go to wage-earners, while one-third goes to capital. Out of this one-third, the report states, the capitalists must provide for depreciation.

The members of the committee were: W. J. Pape of Waterbury, Conn., Professor John B. Clark of Columbia university and the Rev. John A. Ryan of St. Paul's seminary, St. Paul, Minn. Their report says:

"The trap into which so many who undertake to reason from the census have fallen, lies in the hasty assumption that the gross product of manufacturing industries is the measure of the wealth produced."

"From the $2420, the average value of each worker's annual output must be deducted $1235 for materials, leaving $1185 or represent the added value given raw materials in manufacturing."

After capital has paid taxes, rents, royalties, insurance, and similar charges, the committee said there remains $880 to be divided between owners and employees of which labor gets $590, or 66.4 per cent., while capital gets $290, or 33.6 per cent.

CHILD'S WELFARE WILL BE SUBJECT SIX DAYS' SESSION

San Francisco, June 28.—"Child welfare week," six days to earnest consideration of the problem of increasing the child's chances in life, opened today at the Panama-Pacific exposition, under the auspices of the United States Children's Bureau of which Miss Jellia C. Lathrop, the only woman bureau chief in the government is head.

Among those on the program to talk upon pertinent topics are: Dr. Henry D. Chapin, New York, and Mrs. H. L. B. Darling, Boston.

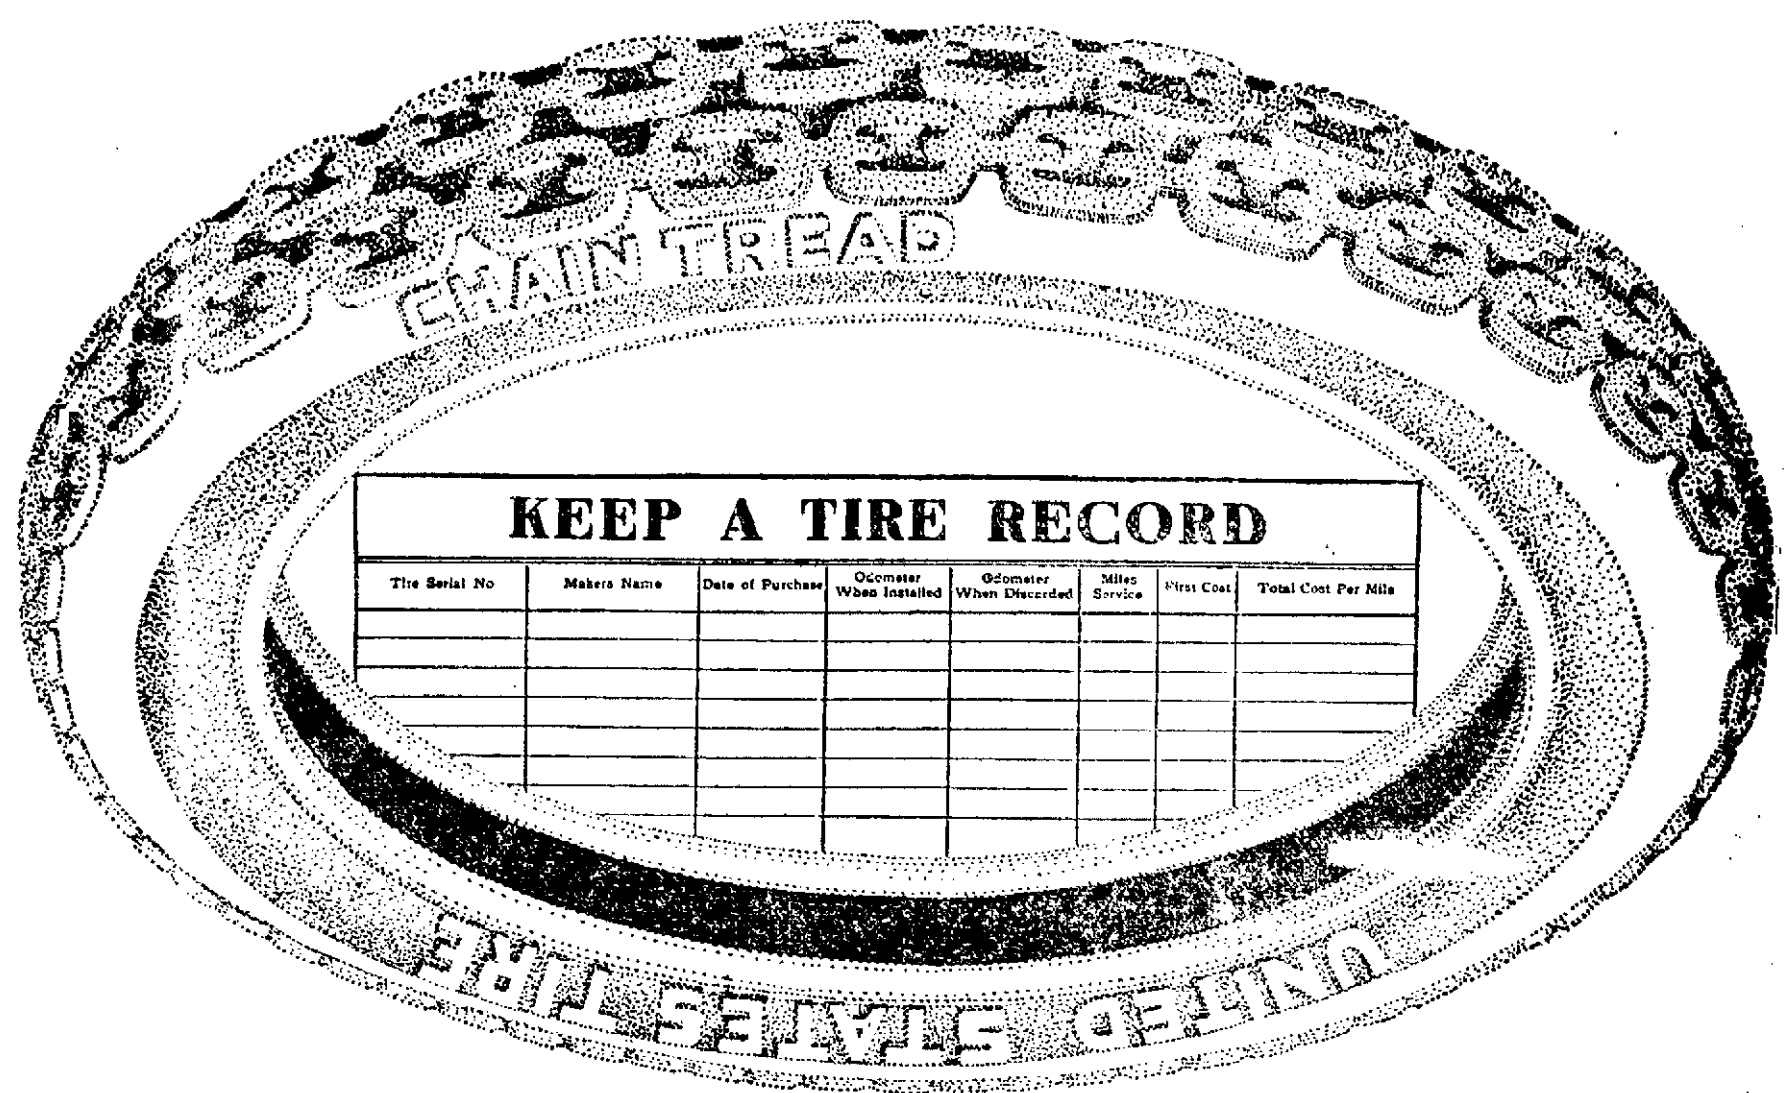

JACKSONTOWN

The Jacksonville Grange had a very interesting meeting Friday evening June 25, at the Town Hall in Jacksonville. After the regular routine of business the 3rd and 4th degrees were conferred on a class of 15. After which about 200 patrons enjoyed the banquet, which was prepared and served by the men. The worthy master, W. L. Roberts, of the Buckeye Lake Grange from Millersport with a score or more of the patrons was among the guests, also the worthy master, E. Clum of the Thornville Grange with a number of patrons from Thornville. Bro. A. W. Caldwell, wife and daughter with others from Brownsville were guests. Patrons from other granges were also our guests. Come again. Our next meeting, July 9.

GRANGE MEMORIAL

The Vanata Grange held its first memorial exercises in the Lutheran church in that village, Sunday afternoon, to a large audience. John M. Lambert was chairman of the meeting, and O. C. Larason of Newark, delivered the address. The graves in the village and at Evans' cemeteries were then decorated. It is probable these exercises will be held annually hereafter.

"A Rubber Chain Tread built on a Powerful Modern Tire"

These are today the acknowledged "Big-Mileage," Popular-Priced Tires. These are the tires that are the newest and biggest sensation of the Automobile World

"Chain Tread" Tires are today acknowledged to be the real "big-mileage," popular-priced tires—but you don't need to take our word for this—simply check the cost-per-mile of "Chain Treads" by keeping one of our Tire Record Blanks.

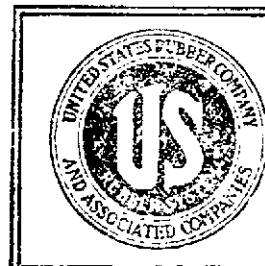

These Tire Records—in black and white—will prove every claim we make for these sensational tires.

"Chain Tread" Tires

Safety experts acknowledge our rubber chain tread, built on this powerful modern tire, to be an absolutely marvelous anti-skid device.

"Chain Treads" are not simply a fancy design stamped on a tire—they are real anti-skid tires. Send your name and address, for a set of Free Tire Record Blanks, to United States Tire Company, New York City.

VICE-PRESIDENT THOMAS R. MARSHALL'S EXPOSITION MESSAGE TO THE NATION

THE VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, AFTER SPENDING FIVE DAYS AT THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION, SAN FRANCISCO, INDITED THE FOLLOWING MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE OF THE NATION, CONTAINING HIS APPRECIATION OF THIS GREATEST OF ALL WORLD'S EXPOSITIONS:

"The stages of my life seem to have been marked by national expositions. My young manhood began with the Centennial. Maturity was marked by the Columbian and the Louisiana Purchase. And now the sunset years bring me to this marvel of the Republic upon the shores of the sunset seas.

"So often have I thought I saw the Pillars of Hercules inscribed with their 'ne plus ultra', that I hesitate to say that I have reached them. But they who builded this Panama-Pacific Exposition were so wise in adopting all the good features and avoiding those which marred the preceding ones that to me it seems as near perfection as the mind and hand of man have ever wrought.

"Whoever can, even at a sacrifice of something which for the moment appears necessary, should come to see a real work of art never equaled even by a mirage.

"If there be anyone in America with a thirst for knowledge and for beauty and a longing for a liberal education such an one can here obtain it.

"This is the university of the world. It has a chair fully endowed to meet the wants and needs of each. The eye, the ear, the mind, the heart, the soul each may have its horizon here enlarged.

"I came to bear a message. I remained to become a student. I leave the feet of this Gamaliel of all expositions THOMAS R. MARSHALL."

Refused to Prosecute.

An affidavit for a peace warrant filed by a woman Saturday night, charging that her husband threatened to kill her and commit suicide, resulted in the man's arrest, but when the case was called Monday the wife failed to appear to testify against her husband. The charge was dismissed.

Sent to Workhouse.
Margaret Franklin, arrested Saturday night on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct, was fined $25 and costs in police court, Monday morning, and ordered committed to the Columbus workhouse. She was taken to Columbus Monday. Six other drunks drew nominal fines.

Tried to Sell Shoes.
Police Chief Sheridan, Monday morning, arrested a man giving his name as John Shannon, and his residence as Buffalo, N. Y., and registered him "investigation." The man was trying to sell a pair of shoes in Walnut street. He claimed he purchased the shoes in Zanesville for 30 cents.

Wool Stolen.
A man giving his name as Snyder, living two miles south of Stadden's Bridge, reported to the police, Monday morning, that thieves entered his barn, probably Sunday night, and stole a dozen fleeces of fine wool. There is no clue to the robbery. The value of the wool is uncertain, there being no market for it. That stolen was worth probably $25 to $35.

Boys Return From Camp.
Y. M. C. A. Physical Director Gallaway and Assistant Calvin Hazlett returned Saturday morning, from the boys' camp on the Hebron road. Twenty-two boys had the pleasure of spending nine days in tents, and under the direction of sufficient and competent leaders. Many of the boys had sunburnt faces and shoulders, but all were happy and insisted that they had had an excellent time. Many parents visited the camp while the boys were there. They helped to make the camp more enjoyable by taking with them baskets of goodies. The boys all look forward to a bigger and better camp next year.

Foreign-Born Citizens.
Marion Marion and Pantilamon China, and other leaders among the Rumanian people report that their people are making special preparations for Americanization Day. They are making preparations to bring a band from Youngstown, O., to lead them in the parade. Other foreign people are also planning to take part in the exercises. The committee urges all patriotic organizations to participate on this day.

Missionary Society.
Mrs. George Adams of South Madison will entertain the ladies of the Missionary Society at her home, Thursday afternoon, July 1.

Fined for Assault.
M. L. Sweetzer was arrested Saturday night on a charge of assault, following an altercation at Eleventh and West Main street. He was fined $5 and costs in police court Monday morning. He paid the amount.

Meeting Postponed.
The meeting of the Brotherhood of the First M. E. Church announced for tonight has been postponed.

Again Postponed.
announced in the Advocate last Friday, the debate on Woman suffrage at Wilkins Corners has again been postponed until Friday night,

July 2, but we are assured that the longer it is put off and the oftener it is postponed from week to week the bigger an affair it will be in the end.

Returns From Vacation.
Headquarters Officer James Donnelly, has returned to duty after an enjoyable two weeks vacation. Patrolman James Gorman started Monday on his vacation.

Found Jewelry.
Robert Zergiebel found a package of jewelry in front of his place of business at 86 South Second street, Monday morning.

W. R. C. Meeting.
There will be a called meeting of Lemert Relief Corps on Wednesday June 30, at 2:00 o'clock. Every member is kindly requested to attend to hear the report of the delegate.

Thank You.
T. W. Cully writes from Soda Springs, Idaho: "The Advocate is surely a pleasure. It is the first thing opened here at the ranch after the stage goes through every day."

Attended Services.
The Order of Eastern Star attended services at the Plymouth Congregational church last evening and heard a splendid sermon by Rev. Grover R. Diehl.

HUERTA

terests who have been keeping themselves informed, say turbidly accepted.

In view of this information, officials are puzzled to know just how much of an active part Huerta intended to take in a movement on Mexican soil, although they have no doubt that at least he intended to take charge of affairs on the border. In that connection it is known that for weeks a party of prominent Mexicans, styled by the Carranza and Villa adherents, "Huertistas" and "Cientificos" have been maintaining an active front in El Paso, in constant communication with General Huerta and other members of the exile colony in New York, and maintained among themselves the form of a provisional government with a president and members of a cabinet. Advice to Mexicans here have continually indicated that the junta was planning some definite move.

Secretary Lansing disclosed today that the initiative had been taken by the department of justice. He declined to say whether any consideration of American policy was involved, but it is known authoritatively that the United States intends that no more revolutionary elements shall be introduced into the Mexican situation and that as far as possible, there will be vigorous prosecution of all other Mexicans who may be planning to set about military expeditions from the United States.

Assistant Attorney General Warren made it clear that the agencies of the department of justice are being directed not alone against Huerta and Orozco, but against all other offenders affiliated with all Mexican factions who now are under indictment. Officials of the department of justice were much surprised to learn that Huerta and Orozco had been released on bail, and ordered that a close watch be kept on them.

The state department's dispatch dated General Carranza was rushing troop trains from Vera Cruz to the capital, that fighting, at the hour the courier started, still was going on in the outskirts of Mexico City and that a repetition of the "tragic ten days" which preceded the overthrow of Madero with probably added horrors, was feared.

Details of the arrest of General Victoriano Huerta and Gen. Orozco, charged with conspiracy to violate American neutrality laws in attempting to set afoot a new revolutionary movement in Mexico from the territory of the United States, were received today by the department of justice.

Although Generals Huerta and Orozco were released on bond, they will be kept under surveillance by border agents of the department of justice. Just what evidence has been and his associates, has not been disclosed against the former dictator, but it is understood to relate mostly to alleged recruiting of Mexicans on American territory.

Officials at the state department declined to say whether the detention of Huerta, arresting, in effect, any contemplated counter revolutionary movement, was a part of the Washington government's plans for compelling a solution by the Carranza, Villa and Zapata factions now in the field. Both the Villa and Carranza agents here interpreted Huerta's detention, however, as meaning that the American government was unwilling that he should complicate the situation by a re-entry into Mexico.

Until President Wilson returns from his trip to Cornish, N. H., it is unlikely that there will be any new steps in the government's policy toward Mexico. In fact, while there is, still a delicate situation with Germany, it is said in well-informed

RIDAPILE CONES

Germs irritate and enlarge the blood vessels, which creates piles

A new treatment for piles is a recent discovery of a New York Specialist. This scientific remedy contains a powerful non-poisonous germicide and antiseptic which removes the cause that creates piles without inconvenience to the user of these suppositories. By the use of Ridapile Cones relief is quickly obtained; pain banished; itching immediately ceases; bleeding is stopped; protruding piles and hemorrhoids reduced after a few applications of the Cones when used according to directions, restoring these parts to their healthy condition.

Ridapile Cones remove the cause by killing the germs. The Cones exert a healing and soothing action and a trial brings immediate relief.

Ridapile Cones do not contain OPIUM, MORPHINE, COCAINE, or other NARCOTICS. PRICE 50c. and $1.00

PALE BEAUTY FADES

The girl who comes home from school or shop tired out every day may be beautiful but she will soon fade. She will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown because the ease with which she tires is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning of the blood that cannot be disregarded.

Thin blood may give an attractive pallor for a short time but soon the patient becomes thin, flat-chested, haggard and angular. The only beauty that endures is that of rich, red blood shining through a transparent skin.

Almost any girl can build up her blood by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Girls are useful to growing girls, to mothers, to thin girls and those who get tired or out of breath easily. Mothers of such girls should see to it that the tendency to anemia is checked by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills before the trouble becomes chronic.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will build up the blood if anything will. They are free from opiates or harmful drugs and can be taken with perfect safety by anyone. Your own druggist, sell them so you can begin the treatment at once. A helpful booklet, "Building Up the Blood" will be sent you free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

quarters that positive action by the United States in the Mexican situation was very unlikely. The American government will give the warring factions more time to come to an agreement, in the meantime, it is believed, preventing General Huerta and others from complicating the situation, and exerting pressure for the branches of the original Constitutionalist party to come to an agreement, on a government that may be accorded recognition.

An overnight dispatch from Major General Funston, commanding the border forces, merely said that Colonel Morgan of the Fifteenth cavalry at the request of the assistant United States attorney, escorted General Huerta to El Paso and that the former Mexican dictator "willingly accompanied" him to that city. General Huerta left his train in Texas, just over the border from Newman, New Mexico.

HUERTA RELEASED.
ON $15,000 BOND.
$7500 FOR OROZCO

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)

El Paso, Tex., June 28.—The arrest of General Victoriano Huerta and Pascual Orozco here last night on charges of violating the neutrality of the United States by attempting to set on foot an armed expedition overshadowed all other developments in the Mexican situation here today. It has forced the abandonment, temporarily at least, of government officials believe, of any movement to launch a new revolutionary movement in Mexico. Huerta was released on $15,000 and Orozco was given his liberty under a bond of half that sum. It is understood that adherents of the former president of Mexico were prepared to furnish surety greatly in excess of the amount fixed.

With the former generals at liberty, Mexican and American officials were watching developments among their adherents. Apparently the tendency of other factional leaders was to await the next move of their opponents.

Despite the declaration of General Huerta that he would never enter Mexico again at the head of an armed force and would not return to his country until peace had been restored, federal officials did not relax their vigilance in watching the movements of the former president. A large crowd that gathered at his daughter's home continued to shout "Vivas" for Huerta until long after midnight.

As to the legal phases of Huerta's arrest, there was no action looked for until July 1, the date set for the Huerta-Orozco hearing.

General Huerta, enroute to El Paso, left El Paso Southwest train No. 1 at Newman, N. M., intending to complete the 20-mile trip by automobile with General Pascual Orozco and Major Luis Puentes. Instead, the former president was invited to accompany United States officials to the federal building for a conference with representatives of the department of justice. The trip to the city was made under guard of the Fifteenth United States cavalry, under Colonel George H. Morgan, Huerta made no objection.

News of Huerta's arrival spread rapidly and so great a crowd gathered around the federal building that on request of Mayor Lea, federal and military officials agreed to take the two officers to Fort Bliss, pending action by the department of justice representatives. Both were released and Huerta in conference with newspapermen, expressed his appreciation of the courtesy shown him.

VERA CRUZ NOT IN NEED OF FOOD SAYS A CARRANZA AGENT.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New Orleans, June 28.—Vera Cruz is not in need of food, according to a lengthy cablegram received here from General Carranza's foreign minister. The official branded as false reports of a food shortage in the city.

The forty tons of corn and beans unloaded at Vera Cruz by the American transport Buford have not been touched, the message said. J. C. O'Conner, of the American Red Cross having satisfied himself that distribution of food was unnecessary.

It was said that O'Conner and American Consul General Shanklin would leave Vera Cruz for Mexico City Tuesday.

BURGLARS

a very few minutes a half dozen men in the neighborhood had responded and while some of them made a hurried search of the back alleys and yards, others sent in a hurry call for the police.

Police Chief Sheridan and Captain Hager with Headquarters Officer Stewart were at the McCleery home within five minutes and after getting a description of the men and the directions they took, the officers made a hurried search of the west end of the city, covering the distance in an automobile. The search was without results.

Men in the neighborhood made a search of the house and of the yards and alleys in the neighborhood but failed to come across any suspicious characters.

An investigation made by Mrs. McCleery and Mrs. Bragg revealed the fact that the thieves got away with three valuable watches, several necklaces, some rings and $5 in money. Some letters of value to Mrs. Bragg were also taken, this fact adding an air of mystery to the case which is puzzling the police department.

The burglars gained entrance to the house by forcing a back window, giving access to the kitchen. Tools stolen from a shed at the home of Edwin Ittigs, living next door, were used. The tools were found on the ground outside the window.

After making a fruitless search for the burglars the officers returned to the McCleery home, secured a description of the stolen property and made an examination of the premises for clues to the identity of the robbers.

A clue furnished by the women was investigated Sunday but was found valueless.

No light was left in the house and the burglars took the precaution to draw all the window shades so they were able to work without fear of being observed from the outside.

Both Mrs. McCleery and Mrs. Bragg suffered a severe nervous shock due to the frightful experience. Sometime last week burglars entered the home of S. E. Alban, 50 Tenth street, while the family was absent, spending the week at Buckeye Lake. The house was thoroughly ransacked and jewelry and money worth $75 to $100 were taken.

Included in the jewelry stolen were a watch, a diamond stick pin and other articles. The money included that contained in the children's banks. The burglary was discovered when the family returned home. Neighbors noticed last Wednesday that all the window shades had been drawn closely and believed that the burglary was a daylight job.

Sunday afternoon a report was received at police headquarters that burglars were in the home of D. T. Groves, living on the old Sitten farm, over the South Second street hill. Police Chief Sheridan, Captain Hager and officers hurried to the home in automobiles and surrounded the house. The burglars had departed before the officers arrived. A quantity of silverware was taken. There is no clue to either of the burglaries.

RECREATION

IS A MATTER OF PUBLIC CONCERN IN THE UNITED STATES TODAY

Old Puritanic Attitude is Discredited in Address Before Convention of Homeopathic Doctors.

(Associated Press Correspondence)
Chicago, June 27.—Physicians from all sections of the country met here tonight when the American Institute of Homeopathy, the recognized charter governing body of that school of healing, opened its seventy-first annual meeting. Memorial services for members of the institute who have died during the past year were held this evening the memorial address being given by O. S. Runnels of Indianapolis. The convention is to continue through Friday and seven bureaus and four affiliated societies will hold sessions in connection with those of the main organization.

Reports of investigating committees, results of clinical and laboratory research and the expert conclusions of physicians and surgeons who have followed new lines of endeavor in their work will be presented. The evening with two exceptions are to be given over to social affairs and to promote these there are especially organized bodies of the institution as well as reunion committees from various schools and fraternities.

Some of the chief interest of the convention is expected to center about the bureau of pedology in which the social welfare of children is to receive special attention this year. The effect of play and the problem of tuberculosis are to be discussed as well as some of the more baffling complaints of childhood.

The bureau of sanitary science is to consider health problems in the light of homeopathic principles; the bureau of homeopathy will debate methods of spreading and vivifying the dogmas of the school; and the bureau of clinical medicine, materia medica dermatology, clinical research will discuss technical subjects. The affiliated bodies, with their presidents, are:

Obstetrical society; Surgical and Gynecological society; National Society of Physical Therapeutics, and the American Homeopathic Ophthalmological Otolological and Laryngological society.

Among the numerous doctors who have prepared papers for the convention are Byron E. Miller, Portland, Ore., and Sarah H. Hobson, Chicago, respectively president and secretary of the institute; Lincoln Phillips, Cincinnati; Anson Cameron and Jos. P. Cobb, Chicago; Albert A. Ogle, Indianapolis; Elizabeth Hamilton Muncie, Brooklyn; George Forrest Martin, Lowell, Mass.; Leon J. Loizeaux and Royal S. Copeland, New York City; Ralph Bernstein, and Dean William A. Pearson, Philadelphia; George Sprague, Syracuse; Philip Rice and Florence N. Ward, San Francisco; Plummer D. Russell, Pueblo, Col.; L. D. Metzger, Pittsburg; Jas. Campbell, St. Louis; J. M. Patterson, Kansas City; H. M. Beebe, Milwaukee; P. B. Kellogg, Los Angeles, and E. C. Williams, Hot Springs, Va.

"Recreation has become a matter of public concern," said Dr. Anson Cameron of Chicago, contending in an address before the American Institute here today that "in the past the attitude toward recreation in America has been that of the Puritan to whom joy is danger."

Dr. Cameron was speaking before the Bureau of Pedology of the Institute, discussing the "Effect of Play on Mental Development and Education." "The fear that the love of play will interfere with the love of work and undermine character, is groundless," he said. "Play develops organic vitality, nervous energy and skill and interests specific attention and enthusiasm together."

"Work is less effective. It lacks enthusiasm and develops only in a negative way when the child does things foreign to its nature in obedience to commands from an adult. Such lack of activity depresses vitality. Modern psychology teaches that joy is power, that right recreation is not merely wholesome but developmental."

"Modern education, stimulated by recent profound social changes, is experiencing a period of restlessness, discontent and experimentation. Several new types of school are being tried; one is the play school in which the teacher's interest is centered in the children and their activities and not merely in subjects of study. Another new type is the vacation school which recognizes that the child's education is going on every day."

"Then we have also the open air school for the anaemic and tubercular child, but the mass of children are kept indoors to be devitalized and subjected to a string of diseases. To obtain the best educational advantages a child must be blind, deaf, feeble-minded or incorrigible. Then he is given exercise, play grounds, gymnasium, baths, fresh air in abundance, gardens and play-shops. Normal children must go along the best they can without them."

"The real business of the child is not to pass examinations but to grow up. The forms of our pleasure-seeking disclose what we really are. Work is important, but it is only one of the important things. 'It is always the spirit that plays.' Education must tell us not only how to get the most out of the working hours, but also how to spend most profitably and joyously the hours that remain."

YOUNG WOMAN IS BADLY HURT AT BUCKEYE LAKE

Miss Florence Hadley, 17-year-old daughter of Manager J. A. Hadley of the Hartman Hotel, Columbus, narrowly escaped being seriously injured yesterday afternoon at Buckeye Lake Park. Miss Hadley, her father and a number of others were bathing at the Yacht club beach when the former attempted to board a moving motor boat. While hanging to the side of the boat her foot was sucked into the propeller. Several deep wounds were inflicted in her left leg. It was said she lost nearly a quart of blood.

Dr. George N. Brown, park physician, attended her. She was taken to her apartment at the Hartman, and it is thought she will be confined to her room for several weeks.

Doctor Tells How to Shed Bad Complexion

We cannot restore degenerated facial tissue any more than we can restore a lost limb. It is useless to attempt to convert a worn-out complexion into a new one. The rational procedure is to remove the complexion instead of remove the degenerated tissue. Not by surgical means, however, as the underlying cutis is too thin to stand to withstand immediate exposure. Applying ordinary mercurized wax will gradually absorb the offending outside. By degrees, a new, youthful skin appears; soft and delicately tinted as a rose petal.

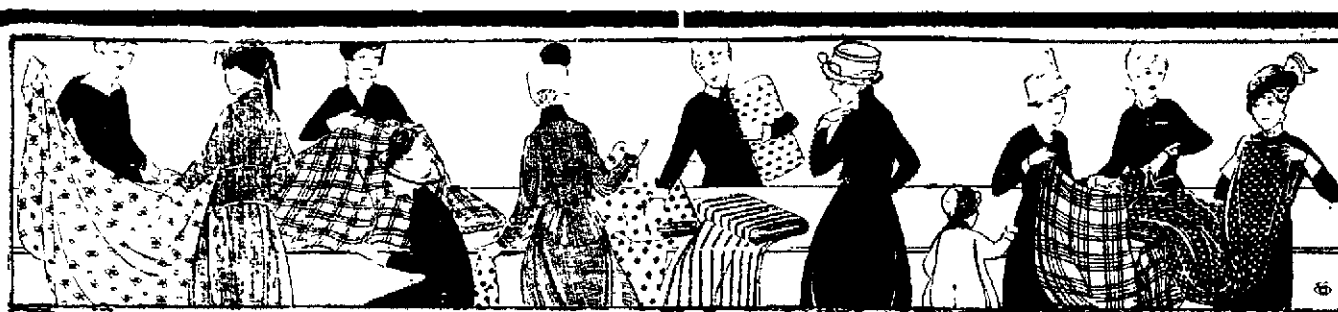

No lady need hesitate to try this. Provide an ounce of mercurized wax of the drugist. Spread on a thin layer before retiring, removing this in the morning with soap and water. In from one to two weeks the complexion is completely transformed. An approved treatment for wrinkles is provided by dissolving an ounce of powdered salicylic in a half pint of witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution brings prompt and remarkable results.—Dr. J. Mackenzie in Popular Medicine.

For The Glorious Fourth and all the remainder of the summer our low cut shoes are models of cool comfort and footwear elegance. They are made on special lasts, not on high shoe lasts cut down. That means a perfect fit without slipping at the heel. Come and try on a few pairs. They come in all leathers and at all prices.

Second Week of The Great Purchase Sale of The

NEW SUMMER WASH GOODS

Brings Greater Values In The Choicest Kind

Greater values we say as many lines have been given a faster selling price, and if you remember, last week we told you about our buyer making a very fortunate purchase of a mammoth lot of the season's newest wash fabrics at a price far below their real worth. We also called your attention to the fact that wash goods are very scarce today and that before many days the wholesale prices will no doubt be much higher. Last week thousands of wash goods buyers took advantage of the low sale prices on wash goods and this week values are even greater. Buy wash goods this week sure.
